We The People Of Europe Reflections On Transnational Citizenship Translation Or Transnation:

We, the People of Europe? Étienne Balibar, 2009-01-10 Étienne Balibar has been one of Europe's most important philosophical and political thinkers since the 1960s. His work has been vastly influential on both sides of the Atlantic throughout the humanities and the social sciences. In We the People of Europe he expands on themes raised in his previous works to offer a trenchant and eloquently written analysis of transnational citizenship from the perspective of contemporary Europe. Balibar moves deftly from state theory, national sovereignty and debates on multiculturalism and European racism toward imagining a more democratic and less state-centered European citizenship. Although European unification has progressively divorced the concepts of citizenship and nationhood, this process has met with formidable obstacles. While Balibar seeks a deep understanding of this critical conjuncture, he goes beyond theoretical issues. For example, he examines the emergence alongside the formal aspects of European citizenship of a European apartheid or the reduplication of external borders in the form of internal borders nurtured by dubious notions of national and racial identity. He argues for the democratization of how immigrants and minorities in general are treated by the modern democratic state and the need to reinvent what it means to be a citizen in an increasingly multicultural, diversified world. A major new work by a renowned theorist, We the People of Europe offers a far-reaching alternative to the usual framing of multicultural debates in the United States while also engaging with these debates. The Anthropology of the State Aradhana Sharma, Akhil

Gupta, 2009-02-09 This innovative reader brings together classic theoretical texts and cutting-edge ethnographic analyses of specific state institutions, practices and processes and outlines an anthropological framework for rethinking future study of the state. Focuses on the institutions, spaces, ideas, practices and representations that constitute the state. Promotes cultural and transnational approaches to the subject. Helps readers to make anthropological sense of the state as a cultural artifact in the context of a neoliberalizing transnational world. Teaching Literature in Translation Brian James Baer, Michelle

Woods, 2022-07-29 The teaching of texts in translation has become an increasingly common practice but so too has the teaching of texts from languages and cultures with which the instructor may have little or no familiarity. The authors in this volume present a variety of pedagogical approaches to promote translation literacy and to address the distinct phenomenology of translated texts. The approaches set forward in this volume address the nature of the translator's task and how texts travel across linguistic and cultural boundaries in translation, including how they are packaged for new audiences with the aim of fostering critical reading practices that focus on translations as translations. The organizing principle of the book is the specific pedagogical contexts in which translated texts are being used, such as courses on a single work, survey courses on a single national literature or a single author and courses on world literature. Examples are provided from the widest possible variety of world languages and literary traditions as well as modes of writing: prose, poetry, drama, film and religious and historical texts, with the aim that many of the pedagogical approaches and strategies can be easily adapted for use with other works and traditions An introductory section by the editors Brian James Baer and Michelle Woods sets the theoretical stage for the volume Written and edited by authorities in the field of literature and translation this book is an essential manual for all instructors and lecturers in world and comparative literature and literary translation

Mind the Gap: Borders, Limits and Frontiers Cahir Healy, 2025-05-19 How do borders define political cultural and social realms influencing identity and community Mind the Gap Borders Limits and Frontiers explores such questions and comprises two parts the first section compiles interdisciplinary essays from leading scholars to critique borders in our global yet divided world Topics include national borders such as the Northern Irish border as well as conceptual and ontological borders more generally Border issues are similarly key to the second part of the book which publishes for the first time the imprisonment memoir of Irish politician Cahir Healy 1877 1970 who was a leading figure in the protest against the Partition of Ireland His memoir offers a first hand account of the conditions faced by Healy and other border objectors who were illegally imprisoned for two years on board the Argenta ship in Belfast Lough c 1922 1924 This book therefore goes beyond mapping border theory it addresses the real life impact of borders on those who confront them daily and is a vital read for those interested in border studies

Sites of Statelessness Ayşe Çağlar, Sabyasachi Basu Ray Chaudhury, Ranabir Samaddar, 2024-11-01 Statelessness is incessantly produced in seas cities and law Building around the postcolonial experiences of statelessness Sites of Statelessness examines the entanglements of citizenship policies and practices with the spread of statelessness in contemporary times something that defies any kind of a citizen stateless binary These policies are significant the background of a shift in emphasis from jus soli to jus sanguinis the proliferation of borderland populations and nowhere people population flows across post colonial border formations and boundary delimitations and the growth of regional formal and informal labor markets characterized by immigrant labor economies In this context contributors address the distinctive dynamics of the different sites in the production of statelessness and considers the impact of these sites as critical and does not merely treat them as a backdrop They argue that these different sites evoke different histories and repertoires and also bring different possibilities of alignment with emerging problematics

Decolonial Politics in European Peripheries Sanja S. Petkovska, 2023-12-12 Decolonial Politics in European Peripheries Redefining Progressiveness Coloniality and Transition Efforts is a timely contribution to the project of theorizing Europe through decolonial perspectives on the Left as the European and global crisis has prompted new reflections on what it means to sit still at the European peripheries The book explores how the joint scholarship efforts of postcolonial and postsocialist scholars might come up with better grounded and more detailed theoretical and methodological insights into the process of globalization and subsequent peripheralization if framed under a progressive and leftist perspective The authors many from the South East Europe region use a variety of analytical lenses to demonstrate how the nexus of postcolonial postsocialist area studies and progressive developmental political thought could inspire changes in the future which are in dissonance with neoliberal and neoconservative capitalism

As the side effects of global capitalism continue to accelerate scholars and activists in the postsocialist periphery are increasingly turning to the concept of decoloniality in the hope that it might offer more options on how to begin to build up their framework This book offers numerous examples of how decolonial theory can be applied to activist work in the fight against austerity and neoliberalization as well as examples of how decolonial critique can be mobilized to contest processes of Europeanization and Euro Atlantic integration This book will intrigue students and scholars of critical social scholarship in general as well as postsocialism and postcolonialism critiques of right populism and the rise of white nationalism in Europe and those studying the regions of South Eastern Europe and Eurasia more generally It will also interest activists organizers decision makers policy analysts and leftists both in the region and internationally

Ageing with Smartphones in Urban Italy Shireen Walton, 2021-05-06 Who am I at this stage Where am I and where should I be and how and where should I live These questions which individuals ask themselves throughout their lives are among the central themes of this book which presents an anthropological account of the everyday experiences of age and ageing in an inner city neighbourhood in Milan and in places and spaces beyond Ageing with Smartphones in Urban Italy explores ageing and digital technologies amidst a backdrop of rapid global technological innovation including mHealth mobile health and smart cities and a number of wider socio economic and technological transformations that have brought about significant changes in how people live work and retire and how they communicate and care for each other Based on 16 months of urban digital ethnographic research in Milan the smartphone is shown to be a constant companion in of and for contemporary life It accompanies people throughout the day and night and through individual and collective experiences of movement change and rupture Smartphone practices tap into and reflect the moral anxieties of the present moment while posing questions related to life values and purpose identities and belonging privacy and sociability Through her extensive investigation Shireen Walton argues that ageing with smartphones in this contemporary urban Italian context is about living with ambiguity change and contradiction as well as developing curiosities about a changing world our changing selves and changing relationships with and to others Ageing with smartphones is about figuring out how best to live together differently

Space, Place and Educational Settings Tim Freytag, Douglas L. Lauen, Susan L. Robertson, 2021-12-02 This open access book explores the nexus between knowledge and space with a particular emphasis on the role of educational settings that are both shaping and being reshaped by socio economic and political processes It gives insight into the complex interplay of educational inequalities and practices of educational governance in the neighborhood and at larger geographical scales The book adopts quantitative and qualitative methodologies and explores a wide range of theoretical perspectives by drawing upon empirical cases and examples from France Germany Italy the UK and North America and presents and reflects ongoing research of international scholars from various disciplinary backgrounds such as education human geography public policy sociology and urban and regional planning As such it provides an interesting read for scholars students and professionals in the broader field of social cultural and educational studies as well as policy makers and practitioners in the fields of education pedagogy social work and urban and regional planning
