Making Audio/Video Connections

Your new TV includes various types of video inputs and two types of audio jacks, RCA type and digital audio (optical). Use the outputs/inputs that are available on your components that provide the best audio/video performances:

| Connector type              | Best Audio/Video Performance | Connector type                              |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| Digital Audio Out (Optical) | ↑                            | HDMI (High-Definition Multimedia Interface) |
| Analog Audio                |                              | Component video                             |
|                             |                              | S VIDEO                                     |
|                             |                              | Composite video                             |

- The connection diagrams shown below and on the reverse side are recommendations only; other possible solutions may exist. Connections that include an A/V receiver can often be complex, so check your A/V receiver's instruction manual for additional details.
- See the "Cables Required" chart that appears with the diagram to determine which cables you'll need. Depending on the components you plan to connect, you may need to purchase extra cables.
- If your connecting equipment has DVI output instead of the HDMI output, you must use DVI-to-HDMI cable or a DVI to HDMI adapter for the video and also connect an audio cable for the sound.

Running Initial Setup

- Select the language for the OSD (on screen display).
- Connect either cable or antenna to your TV (you can connect both using an A-B RF switch). If you connect cable, the TV will scan cable channels. After this scanning, you can search antenna channels as well.
  - If you have cable and antenna connection available, please connect cable first.
  - If you are not using the CABLE/ANTENNA connection to TV, you can cancel the Auto Program by selecting Cancel.
- Your TV will detect the type of signal connected and will start scanning for the channels.
- If the Initial Setup programming found cable channels, you will be able to scan antenna channels as well. Connect the antenna (using an A-B RF switch, not supplied) and change the switch to antenna, then start Auto Program to search antenna channels.
