Soundscape Built Environment Jian Kang:

Soundscape and the Built Environment Jian Kang, Brigitte Schulte-Fortkamp, 2018-10-09 Soundscape Basics and Practical Implications Soundscape research represents a paradigm shift as it involves human and social sciences and physical measurements to account for the diversity of soundscapes across countries and cultures. Moreover it treats environmental sounds as a resource rather than a waste. Soundscape and the Built Environment is the first book to systematically discuss soundscape in the built environment. It begins with a presentation of theory and basic background answering questions such as what is soundscape how is it important and how does it affect people in terms of their health and perception on the acoustic environment. The book then sets out tools for implementing a soundscape approach with measurement techniques mapping and good soundscape practices. It also delivers a series of examples of the application of the soundscape approach in planning design and assessment. Discusses soundscape and environmental noise. Explores cultural variations and the way they influence soundscape. Introduces binaural measurement technology and psychoacoustics. Examines the physical, psychological and physiological restorative mechanism of high quality acoustic environments. Presents soundscape mapping based on human perception of sound sources. Includes real world examples and case studies highlighting the key issues in soundscape intervention. Soundscape and the Built Environment is written by a group of leading international figures and derives from a four year EU COST project on Soundscapes of European Cities and Landscapes. It presents a consensus on the current state of the art and is not merely a collection of different views. It is written for acoustic consultants urban planners, designers and policy makers as well as for graduate students and researchers.

Urban Sound Environment Jian Kang, 2006-09-13 Over the past two decades there have been many major new developments in the field of urban sound environment. Jian Kang introduces and examines these key developments including the development of prediction methods for urban sound propagation, establishment and application of noise mapping software, new noise control measures and design methods. Also Doing Research in Sound Design Michael Filimowicz, 2021-11-23 Doing Research in Sound Design gathers chapters on the wide range of research methodologies used in sound design. Editor Michael Filimowicz and a diverse group of contributors provide an overview of cross disciplinary inquiry into sound design that transcends discursive and practical divides. The book covers Qualitative, Quantitative and Mixed Methods inquiry. For those new to sound design research each chapter covers specific research methods that can be utilized directly in order to begin to integrate the methodology into their practice. More experienced researchers will find the scope of topics comprehensive and rich in ideas for new lines of inquiry. Students and teachers in sound design graduate programs, industry based R D experts and audio professionals will find the volume to be a useful guide in developing their skills of inquiry into sound design for any particular application area.

Acoustics Quarterly ,2016    Noise and Vibration Control in the Built Environment ,2017    Soundscapes: Humans and Their Acoustic Environment Brigitte Schulte-Fortkamp,André Fiebig,Joseph A. Sisneros,Arthur N. Popper,Richard R. Fay,2023-04-24 The concept of the Soundscapes includes all of the sounds in one s environment and focuses not only on the sounds itself Instead it focuses on the interrelationships between person and activity and place both in space and time Soundscape also include influences on the acoustic environment through auditory sensation its interpretation and the responses to the acoustic environment in context The conceptual framework of Soundscape describes the process of perceiving or experiencing and or understanding an acoustic environment highlighting general concepts and their relationships context sound sources acoustic environment auditory sensation interpretation of auditory sensation responses and outcomes International Organization for Standardization ISO 12913 1 2014 Acoustics Soundscape Part Definition and Conceptual Framework ISO Geneva 2014 With soundscape one achieves a deeper understanding of acoustic environment and its effects on people The ISO standard 12931 1 on soundscape provides an important and rigorous distinction in the use of Soundscape But it is recognizable that some individuals particularly planners designers lay persons and even those primarily interested in management of the acoustic environment through environmental noise control will find it convenient to use Soundscape as a synonym for the physical acoustic environment When it comes to noise management and urban planning soundscape research has the potential to promote healthy urban environments by sharing and incorporating the significant knowledge of all concerned parties Understandably this shows that the communication with regard to noise management has to be forced to guarantee that the specifics of Soundscapes i e the relevance of perception are seriously considered alongside the whole This book will bridge the gap between soundscape theory and practice and therefore it will be different from our earlier publications as Soundscape and the built environment ed by J Kang and B Schulte Fortkamp CRC Press Taylor and Francis Group Boca Raton Fl 2016 and also from the respective Special Issues on Soundscapes in 2012 in The Journal of the Acoustical Society of America ed by B Schulte Fortkamp and J Kang and also the Special Issue in Acta Acustica 2006 ed by B Schulte Fortkamp and D Dubois and the E book on soundscape This volume will be driven by the difficult process of standardization of Soundscape and its evaluation procedures The main goal of the proposed volume is to present and review the developments in Soundscape reflecting the standardization procedure and the diverse inputs the needs in management and planning in urban acoustic environments the book will also focus on the difficulties as well as the solutions in interdisciplinary grounded communication that is on the one hand related to science but on the other to application that needs guidance    Promoting Healthy and Supportive Acoustic Environments: Going beyond the Quietness Francesco Aletta,Jian Kang,2020-11-04 This book gathers 14 original contributions published in an IJERPH Special Issue that deal with the perception of environmental sounds and how such sounds are likely to affect human quality of life and well being and the experience of a place The research focus over the years has been gradually shifting from treating sound simply as noise and something that cities should get rid of to a potential resource to promote and support community life in public spaces Three main topics or needs to be addressed by researchers and practitioners emerged from this Special Issue 1 the need to re think quietness in cities as something that goes beyond the mere pursuit of silence 2 the need to integrate additional contextual factors in the characterization and management of urban acoustic environments for public health and 3 the need to consider the acoustic quality of indoor spaces as opposed to an outdoor only perspective The contributions collected in this book will hopefully trigger new questions and inform the agenda of future researchers and practitioners in the environmental acoustics domain Acoustics in the Built Environment: a Challenge for Improving the Quality of Life Arianna Astolfi, Giuseppina Emma Puglisi, Nicola Prodi, Jian Kang, Louena Shtrepi, Chiara Visentin, 2022-05-30

Architectural Publications Index, 2002 The Acoustic Environment of Care Homes Jingyi Mu, Jian Kang, 2025-02-21 This book examines the indoor acoustic environment of China's care homes Chapter 1 provides a brief introduction to the current situation in China's care homes This includes the distribution size demand and future development direction of these facilities The chapter then presents an in depth introduction and analysis of the indoor environment of these facilities especially the acoustic environment In Chapter 2 a case study and site investigation are described and these are used to analyse the current state of the acoustic environment in these facilities including the sound pressure level SPL and reverberation time RT Chapter 3 details the perceptions of the elderly regarding the acoustic environment of care homes and the correlation between the sound environment and other physical environments at the facilities Chapter 4 presents the impact of the acoustic environment on the well being of elderly residents and an analysis of the effects of different sound sources on the activities of the elderly The effects of the acoustic environment on physiological indices of the elderly under different sound sources in care homes are analysed in Chapter 5 Finally in Chapter 6 certain improvement strategies for the indoor acoustic environment of care homes are proposed based on the analysis This book is a comprehensive exposition of research on the acoustic environment of care homes in China and is useful reading for researchers in acoustics architecture design engineering and healthcare facilities It could also be used as a scientific introduction for readers interested in this field Characteristics of Urban Soundscapes Worthy of Preservation Yihong Jia, Jian Kang, Hui Ma, 2019 The Aesthetic Principles of Soundscape in Architectural Design and Built Environment Keda Wang, 2003 This thesis is an attempt to establish a practical way for architectural designers to take advantage of the relationship between soundscape and architectural aesthetics The whole study aides in providing a structural framework by which architectural designers could incorporate acoustic elements into their design with aesthetic concerns rather than for practical purpose The discussions of soundscape and architecture forms are organized in the order of point line plane and space to present my personal observations on the issue Three graphic systems are developed based on the previous researches of soundscape to visualize the coexistence of sonic identities and visual identities in built environment and how both of them interact to create a multi sensory experience for visitors Among the three systems the Soundscape Map system is particularly introduced to demonstrate some case studies where soundscape elements are successfully employed to strengthen the construction of architectural spaces and forms The goal of this research is to open a door for architectural researchers to discover the interconnection between soundscape and architecture with the hope that the graphic systems introduced could be useful for effective designs with soundscape concerns in built environment

Research on Soundscape Identification - A Case Study in Shenzhen, China Yu Lei,Jian Kang,2019 Noise and Vibration Control in the Built Environment ,2017 With global urbanization rapidly rising and the increasing need of high quality built environments the requirement of achieving improved sound quality both for outdoor and indoor environments has received a lot of attention This Special Issue collection reflects the current state of the art with 12 papers covering environmental acoustics the influence of soundscapes on people s behavior soundscape pleasantness estimation tranquility perceived quality of sonic environments sound and vibration related health complaints concerning tramways and the disturbance of construction machines as well as in building and room acoustics including natural ventilation enabling fa ade noise control devices the effect of external shading devices rating method of airborne sound insulation water supply and drainage noise and the effect of diffusive surfaces in auditoria Some papers cover research on the engineering aspects of sound and vibration such as sound propagation and noise control techniques as well as perception aspects of sound such as indoor acoustic comfort and environmental soundscapes The book is prefaced by Prof S Wu entitled Sustainable Urban Sound Environment The Acoustic Environment of Care Homes Jingyi Mu,Jian Kang (Architecture professor),2024-12 This book examines the indoor acoustic environment of China s residential aged care facilities and links it with the physiological and psychological wellbeing of residents It is a comprehensive exposition of research on the acoustic environment of RACFs in China and is useful reading for researchers in acoustics architecture design engineering and healthcare facilities It could also be used as a scientific introduction for readers interested in this field
