The Art in Fundraising: La Salle University's Challenges in Fundraising and Efforts to Build a Strong Art Museum Nikolas Kozel,2012 Fundraising requires many forms of knowledge including an understanding of the process of raising money developing successful programs and yielding success for a given organization Understanding the context in which an organization operates is vital to its ability to successfully raise funds La Salle University s Art Museum and Saint Joseph Universitya s Art Gallery present an interesting and informative comparison of how fundraising for art museums at universities can be accomplished through attention to context as well as through long term thorough strategic planning practices

The Art of the Ask Connie S. Pheiff,2013-06-30 I wrote this book to help nonprofit staff and experienced fundraising professionals excel in today s tough fundraising environment The nonprofit sector continues to be ravaged by changes everything from scandals to the realignment of borders of national organizations No matter what level you are in the organization the information in this book will help you understand that Attitude Passion Results A P R and determine if you have the right attitude to be working in the nonprofit sector The Art of the Ask is actually quite simple You make your ask You make your case You show the benefits Then you stop talking The teachings and stories in this book can be read from different perspectives current executive directors aspiring executive directors development officers board members and community stakeholders Whether the organization you work for is large or small this book gives you the tools to determine if you are in the right place in your career Large is the equivalent of state and national NPOs Small is the equivalent of an organization that does not carry a charter from big brother In the end all NPOs need to have a local presence with grassroots efforts Donors need to know like and respect you Unfortunately organizations are looking at the economies of scale and closing local offices This in my opinion negatively affects the organization s fundraising efforts Philanthropy giving is not disappearing Giving simply looks different these days and we need to be open to the ways of work With change come new opportunities The big change we re realizing is that the world is much more flat and connected than we ever thought possible This means you have greater opportunities to increase your fundraising efforts Are you in the right position You may have a passion for your organization s mission and cause but do you have what it takes to ask for the dollars My coach has taught me that 85 percent of success is having the confidence from looking within it s time for you to take that look within for yourself
