The Dao Of Translation An East West Dialogue Routledge Advances In Translation Studies:

The Dao of Translation Douglas Robinson, 2015-06-12 The Dao of Translation sets up an East West dialogue on the nature of language and translation and specifically on the unknown forces that shape the act of translation To that end it mobilizes two radically different readings of the Daodejing formerly romanized as the Tao Te Ching the traditional mystical reading according to which the Dao is a mysterious force that cannot be known and a more recent reading put forward by Sinologists Roger T Ames and David L Hall to the effect that the Dao is simply the way things happen Key to Ames and Hall s reading is that what makes the Dao seem both powerful and mysterious is that it channels habit into action or what the author calls social ecologies or icoes The author puts Daoism and ancient Confucianism into dialogue with nineteenth century Western theorists of the sign Charles Sanders Peirce and Ferdinand de Saussure and their followers in order to develop an icotic understanding of the tensions between habit and surprise in the activity of translating The Dao of Translation will interest linguists and translation scholars This book will also engage researchers of ancient Chinese philosophy and provide Western scholars with a thought provoking cross examination of Eastern and Western perspectives

The Pushing-Hands of Translation and its Theory Douglas Robinson, 2016-05-12 This book presents an East West dialogue of leading translation scholars responding to and developing Martha Cheung s pushing hands method of translation studies Pushing hands was an idea Martha began exploring in the last four years of her life and only had time to publish at article length in 2012 The concept of pushing hands suggests a promising line of inquiry into the problem of conflict in translation Pushing hands opens a new vista for translation scholars to understand and explain how to develop an awareness of non confrontational alternative ways to handle translation problems or problems related to translation activities that are likely to give rise to tension and conflict The book is a timely contribution to celebrate Martha s work and also to move the conversation forward Despite being somewhat tentative and experimental it probes into how to enable and develop dynamic interaction between and reciprocal determinism of different hands involved in the process of translation

Ubiquitous Translation Piotr Blumczynski, 2016-06-23 In this book Piotr Blumczynski explores the central role of translation as a key epistemological concept as well as a hermeneutic ethical linguistic and interpersonal practice His argument is three fold 1 that translation provides a basis for genuine exciting serious innovative and meaningful exchange between various areas of the humanities through both a concept the WHAT and a method the HOW 2 that in doing so it questions and challenges many of the traditional boundaries and offers a transdisciplinary epistemological paradigm leading to a new understanding of quality and thus also meaning truth and knowledge and 3 that translational phenomena are studied by a broad range of disciplines in the humanities including philosophy theology linguistics and anthropology using various often seemingly unrelated concepts which nevertheless display a considerable degree of qualitative proximity The common thread running through all these convictions and binding them together is the insistence that translational phenomena are ubiquitous

Because of its unconventional and innovative approach this book will be of interest to translation studies scholars looking to situate their research within a broader transdisciplinary model as well as to students of translation programs and practicing translators who seek a fuller understanding of why and how translation matters Translating Culture Specific References on Television Irene Ranzato,2015-09-16 Translating Culture Specific References on Television provides a model for investigating the problems posed by culture specific references in translation drawing on case studies that explore the translational norms of contemporary Italian dubbing practices This monograph makes a distinctive contribution to the study of audiovisual translation and culture specific references in its focus on dubbing as opposed to subtitling and on contemporary television series rather than cinema Irene Ranzato's research involves detailed analysis of three TV series dubbed into Italian drawing on a corpus of 95 hours that includes nearly 3 000 CSR translations Ranzato proposes a new taxonomy of strategies for the translation of CSRs and explores the sociocultural pragmatic and ideological implications of audiovisual translation for the small screen Translating Feminism in China Zhongli Yu,2015-06-05 This book explores translation of feminism in China through examining several Chinese translations of two typical feminist works The Second Sex TSS Beauvoir 1949 1952 and The Vagina Monologues TVM Ensler 1998 TSS exposes the cultural construction of woman while TVM reveals the pervasiveness of sexual oppression toward women The female body and female sexuality including lesbian sexuality constitute a challenge to the Chinese translators due to cultural differences and sexuality still being a sensitive topic in China This book investigates from gender and feminist perspectives how TSS and TVM have been translated and received in China with special attention to how the translators meet the challenges Since translation is the gateway to the reception of feminism an examination of the translations should reveal the response to feminism of the translator as the first reader and gatekeeper and how feminism is translated both ideologically and technically in China The translators decisions are discussed within the social historical and political contexts Translating Feminism in China discusses among other issues Feminist Translation Practice Theory and Studies Translating the Female Body and Sexuality Translating Lesbianism Censorship Sexuality and Translation This book will be relevant to postgraduate students and researchers of translation studies It will also interest academics interested in feminism gender studies and Chinese literature and culture Zhongli Yu is Assistant Professor of Translation Studies at the University of Nottingham Ningbo China UNNC

researchers and academics in translation studies Routledge Handbook of East Asian Translation Ruselle Meade, Claire Y. Shih, Kyung Hye Kim (Professor of translation studies), 2025 Routledge Handbook of East Asian Translation showcases new research and developments in translation studies within the East Asian context. This Handbook draws attention to the diversity of scholarship on translation in East Asia and its relevance to a variety of established and emerging fields. It focuses on hitherto less explored interactions such as intra Asian translation encounters, translation of minority languages and translation between East Asian and non European languages while also contributing to a thriving body of historical scholarship on East Asian translation traditions. Contributions reflect a growing awareness of the cultural and linguistic heterogeneity within nations and the reality of multilingualism and plurilingualism among many communities in East Asia. A wide variety of translatorial practices are discussed including the creative use of Chinese in Japanese language novels, the use of translation to evade censorship online, community theatre translation and translation of picture books. The volume also includes contributions by practitioners who reflect on their experiences of translation and of developing training programmes for community interpreters. This Handbook will appeal to researchers and students of translation and interpreting studies. Chapters are likely to be of value to those working not only in East Asian studies but also disciplines such as literary studies, global cultural studies and LGBT studies. The Routledge Handbook of Chinese Translation Chris Shei, Zhao-Ming Gao, 2017-10-16 The Routledge Handbook of Chinese Translation presents expert and new research in analysing and solving translation problems centred on the Chinese language in translation. The Handbook includes both a review of and a distinctive approach to key themes in Chinese translation such as translatability and equivalence extraction of collocation and translation from parallel and comparable corpora. In doing so it undertakes to synthesise existing knowledge in Chinese translation, develops new frameworks for analysing Chinese translation problems and explains translation theory appropriate to the Chinese context. The Routledge Handbook of Chinese Translation is an essential reference work for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students and scholars actively researching in this area.

Dialogues on the Theory and Practice of Literary Translation Xu Jun, 2019-11-07 The book is a collection of the dialogues between Xu Jun, a well known expert in French literary translation and eminent Changjiang scholar in translation studies in China and some celebrated literary translators in contemporary China, some of whom are also literary scholars, linguists, poets, prose writers and editors. It is a fundamental achievement of research on the literary translation in the 20th century in China involving multiple literary types such as novels, poetry, dramas, prose and fairy tales and multiple languages such as English, French, German, Russian, Italian, Spanish, Japanese and Sanskrit. The dialogues are centered on fundamental issues in the theory and practice of literary translation such as re-creation in literary translation, the relationship between form and content in literary translation, the subjectivity of literary translators, literary translation standards and principles, the gains and losses in literary translation, the principles and methods of literary criticism and so on. Those translation experts experience and multiple strategies not only play an active role in guiding literary translators in practice but also benefit theoretical development in literary translation. Thus the book will contribute to worldwide translation studies and get well recognized by translation studies students, teachers and scholars in the world. Translation and Literature in East Asia Jieun Kiaer, Jennifer Guest, Xiaofan Amy Li, 2019-05-07. Translation and Literature in East Asia: Between Visibility and Invisibility explores the issues involved in translation between Chinese, Japanese and Korean as well as from these languages into European languages with an eye to comparing the cultures of translation within East Asia and tracking some of their complex interrelationships. This book reasserts the need for a paradigm shift in translation theory that looks beyond European languages and furthers existing work in this field by encompassing a wider range of literature and scholarship in East Asia. Translation and Literature in East Asia brings together material dedicated to the theory and practice of translation between and from East Asian languages for the first time. Dialogues on the Theory and Practice of Literary Translation Jun Xu, 2020. The book is a collection of the dialogues between Xu Jun and some celebrated literary translators in contemporary China involving multiple literary types such as novels, poetry, dramas, prose and fairy tales and multiple languages such as English, French, German. Multimodal Approaches to Chinese-English Translation and Interpreting Meifang Zhang, Dezheng (William) Feng, 2020-12-29. Nowadays discourse analysis deals with not only texts but also paratexts and images so do translation and interpreting studies. Therefore the concept of multimodality has become an increasingly important topic in the subject areas of linguistics, discourse analysis and translation studies. However, up to now not much research has been done systematically on multimodal factors in translation and interpreting and even less in exploring research models or methodologies for multimodal analysis in translation and interpreting. This book aims to introduce and apply different theories of the multimodal discourse analysis to the study of translations with case studies on Chinese classics such as the Monkey King, Mulan and The Art of War as well as on interpretations of up to date issues including the Chinese Belt and Road Initiatives and Macao tourism. The chapters reflect the first attempts to apply multimodal approaches to translation and interpreting with a special focus on Chinese-English translations and interpreting. They provide new understandings of transformations in the multimodal translation process and useful reference models for researchers who are interested in doing research of a similar kind especially for those who are interested in looking into translations related to Chinese language literature and culture. Translating Nations Ye Tian (Scholar in translation studies), 2025. This book critically examines the ways in which translation studies can offer a conceptual framework for understanding and researching international affairs drawing on examples from China's Belt and Road Initiative. The volume encourages new conceptualisations of our understanding of culture and communication through the lens of translation re-envisioning translation beyond the scope of the global circulation of cultural products. Tian explores the case study of the Belt and Road Initiative to show how nation branding and soft power can be understood through a translational lens if we rethink of translation as the means by which cultures communicate with and build relationships with each other while retaining their distinct dimensions In focusing on intertwining concepts across translation studies cultural studies and international relations universalism power identity and development the book showcases how it is a useful framework for understanding how translation studies can serve as a platform for multidisciplinary dialogue on a global scale This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies cultural studies international relations and Asian studies Translating and Interpreting in Korean Contexts Ji-Hae Kang,Judy Wakabayashi,2021-06-30 This volume explores how Koreans have engaged with other Asians and Westerners over time and in a range of contexts through the linguistic and cultural mediation of translators and interpreters On Qian Zhongshu's Conceptualization of Translation Chang, Chung-An,2025-10-14 This book brings new perspectives and insights to the discipline of translation studies at a time when Western theories dominate its main discourse By highlighting the significant contribution of Chinese scholar Qian Zhongshu which encompasses a theoretical probing of the process and product of translation in both China and the West the author demonstrates how Qian s reconceptualization of the concept of translation expands the discourse to include and integrate concepts from the history of translation in China The concept of huajing which is one of these cultural perspectives developed by Qian transcends the conventional view of translation as a linguistic transfer envisioning it instead as a dynamic realm where encounters with meaning between the textual worlds of China and the West can take place Through a meticulous analysis of Qian s profound though stylistically fragmentary commentaries the author reveals how his comparative vision creates connections by breaking down linguistic and cultural barriers challenging notions of untranslatability that often hinder cross cultural exchange and anticipating an inclusive and globalized understanding of translation so urgently needed today

Twentieth-Century Chinese Translation Theory Leo Tak-hung Chan,2004-05-28 Past attempts at writing a history of Chinese translation theory have been bedeviled by a chronological approach which often forces the writer to provide no more than a list of important theories and theorists over the centuries Or they have stretched out to almost every aspect related to translation in China so that the historical political backdrop that had an influence on translation theorizing turns out to be more important than the theories themselves In the present book the author hopes to devote exclusive attention to the ideas themselves The approach adopted centers around eight key issues that engaged the attention of theorists through the course of the twentieth century in the hope that a historical account will be presented that is not time bound On the basis of 38 articles translated into English by teachers and scholars of translation the author has written four essays discussing the Chinese characteristics of this body of theory Separately they focus on the impressionistic the modern the postcolonial and the poststructuralist approaches deployed by leading Chinese theorists from 1901 to 1998 It is hoped that publication of this book will make possible cross cultural dialogue with translation academics in the West although the general reader will find much firsthand information on Chinese thinking about translation Western Translation Theory from Herodotus to Nietzsche Douglas Robinson, 2026 Western Translation Theory from Herodotus to Nietzsche offers the most comprehensive collection of translation theory readings available to date from the Histories of Herodotus in the mid fifth century to the end of the nineteenth century. This work provides a rich panoply of thinking about translation across the centuries covering such topics as the best type of translator problems of translating sacred texts translation and language teaching translation as rhetoric translation and empire and translation and gender. This pioneering anthology contains over 140 texts with 30 new ones included in this edition. 21 texts by 18 authors appear here for the first time in English translation. Every entry includes a bibliographical headnote and footnotes. Intended for classroom use in History of Translation Theory, History of Rhetoric or History of Western Thought courses, this anthology is also key reading for scholars of translation and those interested in the intellectual history of the West.

Translation As Actor-networking Wenyan Luo, 2020-02-13 This book employs actor network theory (ANT) to explore the making of the English translation of a work of Chinese canonical fiction, Journey to the West, demonstrating how ANT as applied to Translation Studies can contribute to a richer understanding of the translation process. The volume builds on previous research to apply ANT theory to translation studies by looking in depth at a single work highlighting the unique factors underpinning the making of Monkey Arthur Waley's English translation of the Chinese classic Journey to the West which make the work an ideal candidate for showing ANT theory in practice in translation. Luo uses an in-depth exploration of the work to examine the ways in which both human and nonhuman translation actors and agents interact in different ways in the publication of this translation, showcasing them as dynamic, changing and active participants whose roles shifted over the course of the translation process rather than as fixed entities as traditionally categorized in existing research. The book moves beyond a descriptive account of an ANT based case study toward offering a systematic theoretical and methodological framework of ANT based translation studies using the conclusions drawn from its application to a single work to suggest a way forward for applying ANT in translation production on a wider scale. This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies, sociology and comparative literature, particularly those interested in actor network theory or network studies and their application to related disciplinary fields.
