the beautiful revealed themselves to be even sicker than the dregs of society

Women Who Kill David Roche, Cristelle Maury, 2020-02-20 Women Who Kill explores several lines of inquiry the female murderer as a figure that destabilizes order the tension between criminal and victim the relationship between crime and expression or the lack thereof and the paradox whereby a crime can be both an act of destruction and a creative assertion of agency In doing so the contributors assess the influence of feminist queer and gender studies on mainstream television and cinema notably in the genres film noir horror melodrama that have received the most critical attention from this perspective They also analyse the politics of representation by considering these works of fiction in their contexts and addressing some of the ambiguities raised by postfeminism The book is structured in three parts Neo femmes Fatales Action Babes and Monstrous Women Films and series examined include White Men Are Cracking Up 1994 Hit Gone Girl 2014 Terminator 1984 The Walking Dead 2010 Mad Max Fury Road 2015 Contagion 2011 and Ex Machina 2015 among others

Women in Film Noir E. Ann Kaplan, 2019-07-25 The first edition of Women in Film Noir 1978 assembled a group of scholars and critics committed to understanding the cinema in terms of gender sexuality politics psychoanalysis and semiotics This edition is expanded to include further essays which reflect the renewed interest in Film Noir Exploring neo noir postmodernism and other contemporary trends new essays offer readings of among others Bound and Basic Instinct broadening the scope of the book to include questions of race and homosexuality

Crime Films Thomas Leitch, 2002-08-15 This book surveys the entire range of crime films including important subgenres such as the gangster film the private eye film film noir as well as the victim film the erotic thriller and the crime comedy Focusing on ten films that span the range of the twentieth century Thomas Leitch traces the transformation of the three leading figures that are common to all crime films the criminal the victim and the avenger Analyzing how each of the subgenres establishes oppositions among its ritual antagonists he shows how the distinctions among them become blurred throughout the course of the century This blurring Leitch maintains reflects and fosters a deep social ambivalence towards crime and criminals while the criminal victim and avenger characters effectively map the shifting relations between subgenres such as the erotic thriller and the police film within the larger genre of crime film that informs them all

Refiguring American Film Genres Nick Browne, 1998-04-22 This collection of essays by leading American film scholars charts a whole new territory in genre film criticism Rather than assuming that genres are self evident categories the contributors offer innovative ways to think about types of films and patterns within films in a historical context Challenging familiar attitudes the essays offer new conceptual frameworks and a fresh look at how popular culture functions in American society The range of essays is exceptional from David J Russell s insights into the horror genre to Carol J Clover s provocative take on trial films to Leo Braudy s argument for the subject of nature as a genre Also included are essays on melodrama race film noir and the industrial context of genre production The contributors confront the poststructuralist critique of genre head on together they are certain to shape future debates concerning the viability and vitality of genre in studying American cinema The dark side of the screen Foster Hirsch,1981 New York Magazine ,1985-08-19 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea New York in Cinematic Imagination Vojislava Filipcevic Cordes,2020-06-11 New York in Cinematic Imagination is an interdisciplinary study into urbanism and cinematic representations of the American metropolis in the twentieth century It contextualizes spatial transformations and discourse about New York during the Great Depression and the Second World War examining both imaginary narratives and documentary images of the city in film The book argues that alternating endorsements and critiques of the 1920s machine age city are replaced in films of the 1930s and 1940s by a new critical theory of agitated urban modernity articulated against the backdrop of turbulent economic and social settings and the initial practices of urban renewal in the post war period Written for postgraduates and researchers in the fields of film history and urban studies with 40 black and white illustrations to work alongside the text this book is an engaging study into cinematic representations of New York City Perspectives on Film Noir R. Barton Palmer,1996 With the revived use of film noir by such contemporary directors as Scorsese Altman and the Coen brothers there has been heightened public and academic interest in the film noir as a genre movement and style In this Perspectives volume French theories of film noir are discussed with translations of key book reviews essays and articles Anglo American theory and criticism especially scholarship from the 1980s illuminates social literary and philosophical contexts of film noir in the 1940s and the revival of its themes style and subject matters in the 1970s and 1980s The Ends of Film Noir Eileen Marie Jones,1996 Projecting Paranoia Ray Pratt,2001 A wide ranging and idiosyncratic look at sixty years of politics and film that uncovers how American movies have mirrored and even challenged anxieties and paranoid perceptions embedded in American society since the start of the Cold War The first book to take a sweeping look at 60 years of film and analyze them thematically Film Noir Reader 4 Alain Silver,James Ursini,2004-11 This text identifies a handful of plot elements that consistently recur within film noir and analyses in depth the memorable pictures that while being vivid prototypes of certain cinematics themes bend and break their moulds to find new ways to enthrall and frighten us Handbook of American Film Genres Wes D.
