The Deep End An Elite Swimmers Struggle With Alcoholism And Bipolar Disorder:

The Deep End Christina Vedejs, 2013-05-31 The Deep End is a fascinating and compelling story about an elite competitive swimmer's struggle with alcoholism and undiagnosed bipolar disorder. A high achiever from a young age, Ms. Vedejs secretly battled internal demons that threatened to destroy her. The Deep End is a wake-up call to coaches, teachers, therapists, and parents that the outward appearance of success does not necessarily correlate with mental wellness and happiness. This book will be helpful to those seeking a greater understanding of addiction, which is often accompanied by brain illnesses such as anxiety, depression, and bipolar disorder. For those who suffer from any of these conditions, The Deep End is a must-read.

Runner's World, 2006-03 Runner's World magazine aims to help runners achieve their personal health, fitness, and performance goals and to inspire them with vivid, memorable storytelling. Tripolar TJ Davis, This book is a mental health memoir that chronicles the author's life with bipolar disorder, acute PTSD, and addiction. At the beginning of the book, Tim Davis, tripolar, shares the three areas of major struggle in his life: addiction and alcoholism, mental health issues, and maintaining a healthy weight. Tim looks back on traumatic childhood events from his dysfunctional family. At age 13, his father died in a tragic accident falling off the balcony at their home, and Tim was blamed for his father's death by his older brother. That led him to begin self-medicating with drugs and alcohol, as his mother never sought therapy for any of her 7 children. After that tragedy, Tim developed many addictions early on in life. His childhood struggles and penchant for addiction followed him into his adult life. At age 27, he was diagnosed with bipolar disorder after entering another drug and alcohol treatment program. As Tim received treatment for his mental health disorders, he began to build a healthy foundation for his life. He found solace for all three of his struggles after discovering that training for and competing in triathlons and ultramarathons are an important outlet to help him manage a lot of the mania that goes with being bipolar. Tim is still happily married for over 23 years now, with 3 children. He has completed 15 Ironman triathlons, 1 double Ironman triathlon, 7 x 100 mile endurance runs, over 50 ultramarathons, and hundreds of other races. He has been a high school teacher and coach for over 20 years now. He races for his recovery and to model to others that they too can overcome whatever their issues are. A

Tale from the Depths of a Bipolar Mind Gray Chavannes, 2010-03 By July of 1995, I said to hell with it. I put Kayla in her car seat and went to find some speed. Now it stuns me how sick I must have been taking my infant daughter to a drug dealer's house. But that's the way it is when you have untreated bipolar disorder, alcoholism, and drug addiction. Growing up, Gray Chavannes struggled more than most, exhibiting signs of mental illness at the age of nine. Through his combination of autobiography and poetry, Chavannes takes readers into this chaotic world where each day is at the mercy of mental illness and where his increasing addiction to drugs and alcohol, his method of coping, threatens to destroy him. This harrowing account gives readers a glimpse into Chavannes' reality as he struggled to block out the voice inside his head that told him he was a failure, a nobody, a loser. Unbeknownst to him, he was suffering from bipolar disorder with psychotic features, fighting invisible foes that were not there losing whole segments of time riding the highest highs and falling To The lowest lows And just when he felt that he had some semblance of control and had attained the life he wanted he was forced to watch his dream crumble beneath him losing his job his home And The ones he loved A Tale from the Depths of a Bipolar Mind A Journey Beyond Imagination is riveting showing how with faith support And The proper diagnosis one man finally stood up to face the demons that had long been plaguing his life Off the Deep End William Hodding Carter,2008-01-01 A lifelong swimming enthusiast who had always dreamed of Olympic glory describes how despite his failure to qualify for the Olympic trials from 1976 through 2004 he took up his quest at the age of forty two by preparing for the Masters Championships undergoing a long difficult and effective training regimen in pursuit of his dream
