The Disoriented State Shifts In Governmentality Territoriality And Governance Environment Policy:

The Disoriented State Bas Arts, Arnoud Lagendijk, Henk J. van Houtum, 2009-01-18 By providing a unique combination of theories on the state on territoriality and on governance The Disoriented State explores the relationship between state governmentality and specific forms of policy making The Disoriented State begins with a theorisation of these new modes of territoriality governmentality and governance by three prominent scholars in the field Neil Brenner Phil Cerny and Bob Jessop This is followed by a series of in depth case studies which manifest the variety as well the various forms of co constitution between state governmentality new modes of governance and policy making focusing on migration spatial economic policy city marketing urban development water management and environmental policy

Metagovernance for Sustainability Louis Meuleman, 2018-08-14 The 17 Sustainable Development Goals SDGs which were adopted by the United Nations in September 2015 are universally applicable in all 193 UN Member States and connect the big challenges of our time such as hunger and poverty climate change health in an urbanised environment sustainable energy mobility economic development and environmental degradation Sustainability has the characteristics of a wicked problem for which there are no one size fits all solutions This book tests the hypothesis that the implementation of sustainable development and in particular the 2015 SDGs requires tailor made metagovernance or governance of governance This is necessary to develop effective governance and high quality and inclusive public administration and to foster policy and institutional coherence to support implementing the SDGs Based on the growing literature on governance and metagovernance and taking into account the specificities of societal factors such as different values and traditions in different countries the book presents a framework for the design and management of SDG implementation It shows how hierarchical network and market governance styles can be combined and how governance failure can be prevented or dealt with The book presents an overview of fifty shades of governance which differ for each governance style and a sketch of a concrete method to apply sustainability metagovernance Metagovernance for Sustainability is relevant to academic and practitioner fields across many disciplines and problem areas It will be of particular interest to scholars students and policy makers studying Sustainable Development Governance and Metagovernance Public Management and Capacity Building

Institutional interaction in environmental governance Peter Narh, 2015-06-08 In this work the attempt is made to explore and understand the interaction between different institutions in environmental governance and the role of human livelihood strategies in this interaction With a case study of teak farming and sand winning in the Dormaa Municipality and Dormaa East district in midwestern Ghana the work seeks to contribute to understanding the dynamics and role of institutions and human behaviour relationship in environmental governance The study has been formulated and conducted following some observations of interaction between statutory and customary institutions in regulating human activities on the natural environment in Dormaa Prior to this study observations of this author in some communities in the Dormaa Municipality and Dormaa East district showed that statutory and customary environmental governance institutions influenced each other to shape the ways different people acted on the natural environment Moreover it was observed that the actions of people in turn influenced how these institutions functioned and affected each other Impacts of European Territorial Policies in the Baltic States Garri Raagmaa,Dominic Stead,2017-10-02 Urban and regional development in the Baltic States and other Central and Eastern European countries has experienced rapid changes since their re independence at the beginning of the 1990s Meanwhile urban and regional planning institutions and organizational cultures in the Baltic States have only changed rather incrementally despite various national and European pressures for reform As a consequence the effects of European cohesion and structural policy measures have been quite modest and the ability of the planning systems in the Baltic states to manage contemporary trends in urban and regional development has become increasingly limited This book focuses on these issues and tensions of spatial planning and development in the Baltic States and their distinctiveness compared to other European countries It provides an overview of the historical and cultural context of spatial development a discussion of the processes of Europeanization of spatial planning in the specific context of the Baltic States and an analysis of whether these processes may be leading to policy convergence in the region This book was published as a special issue of European Planning Studies

Forest People Interfaces Bas Arts,Séverine van Bommel,Mirjam Ros-Tonen,Gerard Verschoor,2012-05-22 This book aims at both academics and professionals in the field of forest people interfaces It takes the reader on a journey through four major themes that have emerged since the initiation of social forestry in the 1970s non timber forest products and agroforestry community based natural resource management biocultural diversity and forest governance In so doing the books offers a comprehensive and current review on social issues related to forests that other more specialized publications lack It is also theory rich offering both mainstream and critical perspectives and presents up to date empirical materials Reviewing these four major research themes the main conclusion of the book is that na ve optimism associated with forest people interfaces should be tempered The chapters show that economic development political empowerment and environmental aims are not easily integrated Hence local landscapes and communities are not as makeable as is often assumed Events that take place on other scales might intervene local communities might not implement policies locally and governance practices might empower governments more than communities This all shows that we should go beyond community based ideas and ideals and look at practices on the ground Cultural Sustainability and Regional Development Joost Dessein,Elena Battaglini,Lummina Horlings,2015-08-13 Meeting the aims of sustainability is becoming increasingly difficult at the same time the call for culture is becoming more powerful This book explores the relationships between culture sustainability and regional change through the concept of territorialisation This new concept describes the dynamics and processes in the context of regional development driven by collective human agency that stretches beyond localities and marked off regional boundaries This book launches the concept of territorialisation by exploring how the natural environment and culture are constitutive of each other This concept allows us to study the characterisation of the natural assets of a place the means by which the natural environment and culture interact and how communities assign meaning to local assets add functions and ascribe rules of how to use space By highlighting the time space dimension in the use and consumption of resources territorialisation helps to frame the concept and grasp the meaning of sustainable regional development Drawing on an international range of case studies the book addresses both conceptual issues and practical applications of territorialisation in a range of contexts forms and scales The book will be of great interest to researchers and postgraduates in sustainable development environmental studies and regional development and planning

Policy and Governance Iain Deas,Stephen Hincks,2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty first century a crucial question emerges what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development economic development planning and regeneration and the environment Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development highlighting the related opportunities constraints and challenges that confront their operationalisation This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development governance politics human geography and planning and regeneration
