The Easter Offensive, Vietnam, 1972 Gerald H. Turley,1985 The Easter Offensive Gerald H. Turley,1985

Vietnam 1972: Quang Tri Charles D. Melson,2021-06 During the Cold War Vietnam revealed the limitations of a major power in a peripheral conflict Even so the military forces involved North Vietnamese South Vietnamese American and Allied demonstrated battlefield consistency in conflict that did credit to them all By early 1972 Nixon s policy of Vietnamization was well underway South Vietnamese forces had begun to assume greater military responsibility for defense against the North and US troops were well into their drawdown with some 25 000 personnel still present in the South When North Vietnam launched its massive Easter Offensive against the South in late March 1972 the first invasion effort since the Tet Offensive of 1968 its scale and ferocity caught the US high command off balance The inexperienced South Vietnamese soldiers manning the area south of the Vietnamese Demilitarized Zone in former US bases plus the US Army and Marines Corps advisors and forces present had to counter a massive conventional combined arms invasion The North s offensive took place simultaneously across three fronts Quang Tri Kontum and An Loc In I Corps Tactical Zone the PAVN tanks and infantry quickly captured Quang Tri City and overran the entire province as well as northern Thua Thien However the ARVN forces regrouped along the My Chanh River and backed by US airpower tactical strikes and bomber raids managed to halt the PAVN offensive before retaking the city in a bloody counteroffensive Based on primary sources and published accounts of those who played a direct role in the events this book provides a highly detailed analysis of this key moment in the Vietnam conflict Although the South s forces managed to withstand their greatest trial thus far the North gained valuable territory within South Vietnam from which to launch future offensives and improved its bargaining position at the Paris peace negotiations The Easter Offensive G. Ngo Quang Truong,2015-11-06 Includes over 30 maps and illustrations This monograph forms part of the Indochina Monograph series written by senior military personnel from the former Army of the Republic of Vietnam who served against the northern communist invasion In 1968 a U S presidential election year Communist North Vietnam initiated the Tet Offensive striking at almost all major cities and towns of South Vietnam This general offensive was eventually defeated by the collective efforts of the Republic of Vietnam United States and Free World Assistance forces Four years later in 1972 again a U S presidential election year North Vietnam threw its entire military might behind an invasion to conquer the South This time however South Vietnam had to fight for survival with only logistics and combat support provided by the United States Almost all U S and Free World Military Assistance combat forces had been withdrawn when the first attacks began on 30 April 1972 By all standards the Easter Offensive of 1972 was one of North Vietnam s most significant initiatives during the Vietnam War This all out effort involved eventually in excess of ten divisions on each side and affected the lives of well over a million South Vietnamese people During the eight long months of fierce fighting the Republic of Vietnam Armed Forces put Vietnamization to a severe test During the period of the Easter Offensive I had the privilege of participating in some of its major battles first as IV Corps and then as I Corps commander beginning in early May 1972 I visited many of our combat units as they fought the North Vietnam Army and commanded the RVNAF counteroffensive to retake Quang Tri City My critical analysis of the enemy 1972 Easter Invasion therefore is based almost exclusively on my own personal observations impressions and interviews with Vietnamese who were directly involved
