Achieving food system resilience & equity in the era of global environmental change Albie F. Miles,Valarie Blue Bird Jernigan,Philip Dobie,Anja Gassner,Casey Hoy,Noa Kekuewa Lincoln,Kathleen Merrigan,Jennifer Sowerwine,Samina Raja,2023-02-27   Animal Industries Taina Syrjämaa,Marja Jalava,Taija Kaarlenkaski,Otto Latva,Eeva Nikkilä,Tuomas Räsänen,2024-04-01 This book examines an extremely topical phenomenon the massive industrial exploitation of animals from a previously neglected perspective It explores the history and development of animal industries in Nordic countries from their establishment in the late nineteenth century to the present day These countries are often considered to be progressive and advanced in animal protection but consumption practices in this area are actually excessive in relation to planetary resources and are among the most unsustainable on a global scale If we want to understand current problems it is essential to be aware of long term changes and continuities as well as the diversity of animals that have been exploited The purpose of this book is to explain these changes and provide new knowledge for scholars in human animal studies

Borras,Jennifer C. Franco,2025-08-29 Access to land in all its multiple meanings is necessarily diverse complex and contentious and facilitating and maintaining such access constitutes a mosaic of social relations and institutional instruments rather than the minimalist and simplistic reduction of land to land property that in turn tends to be interpreted always as individual private property The Oxford Handbook of Land Politics offers heterodox analytical tools to help the reader make sense of the complexity of the politics of land

Protein Machines, Technology, and the Nature of the Future Wyatt Galusky,2022-07-18

This book explores the relationships between humans chickens and environments in the context of protein production The history of these relationships reveals them to be increasingly technological which results in humans becoming more responsible for those animals and their environments Understanding this development through the configuration of various kinds of protein machines is key to confronting the kinds of future we wish to promote and the characteristics of the present we wish to sustain The book is organized around narratives that explore the concept of the protein machine with a particular focus on the development of the chicken as it has moved from the field to the factory to the laboratory These transformations are interconnected and culminate in efforts to cultivate meat without the animal Our ultimate goal will be to ask what kind of future does this technology envision and what roles do humans and animals play in it

Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies Mark Shucksmith,David L. Brown,2016-05-20 Rural societies around the world are changing in fundamental ways both at their own initiative and in response to external forces The Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies examines the organisation and transformation of rural society in more developed regions of the world taking an interdisciplinary and problem focused approach Written by leading social scientists from many countries it addresses emerging issues and challenges in innovative and provocative ways to inform future policy This volume is organised around eight emerging social economic and environmental challenges Demographic change Economic transformations Food systems and land Environment and resources Changing configurations of gender and rural society Social and economic equality Social dynamics and institutional capacity Power and governance Cross cutting these challenges are the growing interdependence of rural and urban the rise in inequality within and between places the impact of fiscal crisis on rural societies neoliberalism power and agency and rural areas as potential sites of resistance The Routledge International Handbook of Rural Studies is required reading for anyone concerned with the future of rural areas Mother Cow, Mother India Yamini Narayanan, 2023-02-14 India imposes stringent criminal penalties including life imprisonment in some states for cow slaughter based on a Hindu ethic of revering the cow as sacred And yet India is among the world's leading producers of beef leather and milk industries sustained by the mass slaughter of bovines What is behind this seeming contradiction What do bovines deemed holy in Hinduism experience in the Indian milk and beef industries Yamini Narayanan asks and answers these questions introducing cows and buffaloes as key subjects in India's cow protectionism rather than their treatment hitherto as mere objects of political analysis Emphasizing human animal hierarchical relations Narayanan argues that the Hindu framing of the cow as mother is one of human domination wherein bovine motherhood is simultaneously capitalized for dairy production and weaponized by right wing Hindu nationalists to violently oppress Muslims and Dalits Using ethnographic and empirical data gathered across India this book reveals the harms caused to buffaloes cows bulls and calves in dairying and the exploitation required of the diverse racialized labor throughout India's dairy production continuum to obscure such violence Ultimately Narayanan traces how the unraveling of human domination and exploitation of farmed animals is integral to progressive multispecies democratic politics speculating on the real possibility of a post dairy society based on vegan agricultural policies for livelihoods and food security Commoditizing Nonhuman Animals and Their Consumers Heather C. McLeod-Kilmurray, 2014 There is increasing research on the effects of industrial livestock production on the environment and human health but less on the effects this has on animal welfare and ecological justice The concept of ecological justice as a tool for achieving sustainability is gaining traction in the legal world Klaus Bosselmann defines ecological justice as consisting of three elements intragenerational justice intergenerational justice and interspecies justice While the first two have been extensively discussed interspecies justice has received less attention It is argued that the neglect of interspecies justice in the practice of industrial livestock production leads to both intragenerational and intergenerational injustices The article focuses primarily on an animal welfare perspective addressing the extreme harm and oppression of animals entailed by their commoditization for industrial food production The destructive impact of this mode of food production on environmental resources and its massive contributions to climate change also lead to the impoverishment of the food environmental social and economic health of present and future generations The article describes the legal mechanisms that have permitted and indeed encouraged the move to industrial livestock production and suggests changes that could reduce the three kinds of ecological injustices which industrial livestock production produces Green Meat? Ryan M. Katz-Rosene, Sarah J. Martin, 2020-04-16 Green Meat takes a multifaceted approach to the issues of industrialized agricultural production and its relationship to climate change. It argues that one singular solution to this problem would undermine the myriad of ways that meat is consumed across regional and cultural lines. Although meat may always be a global staple of the human diet it is not too late to re-examine current food systems through the framework of sustainability and ecological prosperity. Alternatives Journal Farming, Food and Nature Joyce D'Silva, Carol McKenna, 2018-10-25 Livestock production and its use of finite resources is devastating biodiversity and pushing wildlife to the brink of extinction. This powerful book examines the massive global impact caused by intensive livestock production and then explores solutions ranging from moving to agroecological farming to reducing consumption of animal products including examples of best practice and innovation both on land and within the investment and food industries. Leading international contributors spell out the problems in terms of planetary limits climate change resources the massive use of cereals and soy for animal feed and the direct impact of industrial farming on the welfare of farmed animals. They call for an urgent move to a flourishing food system for the sake of animals the planet and us. Some offer examples of global good practice in farming or the power of the investment community to drive change and others highlight food business innovation and exciting developments in protein diversification. Providing a highly accessible overview of key issues this book creates a timely resource for all concerned about the environmental social and ethical issues facing food farming and nature. It will be an invaluable resource and provide inspiration for students professionals non-governmental organisations NGOs and the general reader.

Livestock's Long Shadow Henning Steinfeld, Pierre Gerber, T. D. Wassenaar, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Vincent Castel, Cees de Haan, 2006-01-01 And conclusions fra rapporten Line in the Tar Sands Joshua Kahn, Stephen D'Arcy, Tony Weis, Toban Black, 2014-10-15 Tar sands development comes with an enormous environmental and human cost. In the tar sands of Alberta the oil industry is using vast quantities of water and natural gas to produce synthetic crude oil creating drastically high levels of greenhouse gas emissions and air and water pollution. But tar sands opponents fighting a powerful international industry are likened to terrorists government environmental scientists are muzzled and public hearings are concealed and rushed. Yet despite the formidable political and economic power behind the tar sands many opponents are actively building international networks of resistance challenging pipeline plans while resisting threats to Indigenous sovereignty and democratic participation. Including leading voices involved in the struggle against the tar sands A Line in the Tar Sands offers a critical analysis of the impact of the tar sands and the challenges opponents face in their efforts to organize effective resistance. Contributors include Greg Albo S'kihihitowin Aw sis Toban Black Rae Breaux Jeremy Brecher Linda Capato Jesse Cardinal Angela V Carter Emily Coats Stephen D'Arcy Yves Engler Cherri Foytlin Sonia Grant.
