Whitehead, III,2004-07-22 This volume makes two important contributions First it provides a framework grounded in theory and best professional practice that middle and high school teachers their students and community partners can use to design implement and evaluate service learning projects that address authentic community needs Second it demonstrates ways collaborative service learning can enhance students intellectual development promote their academic achievement strengthen their citizenship skills and accelerate the kinds of educational accountability and reform initiatives emphasized in the national educational standards movement and the 2002 No Child Left Behind Act Serve and Learn Implementing and Evaluating Service Learning in Middle and High Schools provides what may be the only comprehensive guide to implementing assessing and celebrating service learning in today s middle and high schools emphasizes and explicates a collaborative approach to service learning in which teachers students and community partners team together to advance learning and meet genuine community needs demonstrates how service learning teams use key elements of standards based education multiple intelligences theory and cooperative learning to guide project development implementation assessment and evaluation offers optional designs for service learning projects that are suitable for use by interns and beginning teachers as well as by experienced and master teachers and that can be used in a developmental sequence by school and community partners to build from small individual projects toward school system and community wide projects and includes end of chapter activities that help those who use the book as a text to practice the model and its strategies and use results to create their own service learning projects The book is organized in three parts that present service learning along a theoretical to practical continuum Part I lays the foundations for the method by proposing a collaborative model for service learning Part II explicates this model and explains the four sets of processes that teams use to commit to a project cooperatively determine students project outcomes and ways to measure them develop learning activities to help students achieve outcomes and then evaluate their projects and celebrate growth Part III provides resources for carrying out the collaborative model A wide range of educators will find this book useful Its distinctive contributions and features are particularly valuable for teacher educators students and community partners already committed to service learning projects to those who are introducing service learning into their practice and to instructional supervisors school administrators and community agencies seeking to create a climate for service learning or to enrich initiatives already underway Real and Relevant Katy Farber,2017-06-09 Real and Relevant provides teachers with a realistic integrated and inspirational guide for how to lead service and project based learning with their students By engaging in service or project based learning with students you are doing nothing less than changing the world for the better By letting your students explore and begin to solve real life problems they acquire deeper knowledge new skills newfound motivation responsibility and engagement

Your College Experience Gardner,Jewler,2006-02 The Official Guide of the Railways and Steam Navigation

Lines of the United States, Puerto Rico, Canada, Mexico and Cuba ,1910 Also time tables of railroads in Central America Air line schedules Learning Through Serving Christine Marie Cress,Peter John Collier,Vicki Lynn Reitenauer,2005-01-01 A student friendly self directed guide to service learning Develops the skills needed to succeed Clearly links service learning to the learning goals of the course Combines self study and peer study workbook formats with activities that can be incorporated in class to give teachers maximum flexibility in structuring their service learning courses Promotes independent and collaborative learning Equally suitable for courses of a few weeks or a few months duration Shows students how to assess progress and communicate end results Low priced the ideal companion to disciplinary course readings Methodology and activities extensively tested at Portland State University Written for students participating in service learning as a class but also suitable for students working individually on a project This book is intended as a self directed guide for college level students who are engaged in service learning. Though addressed principally to students participating in service learning as a class it is also suitable for students working individually. The authors goals are to enable the reader to derive the greatest benefit from the experience in terms of providing meaningful service to the community partner developing his or her skills and knowledge and connecting back what she or he learns to course objectives and the framework of their discipline. Service learning requires students to take on new roles and to pursue learning in ways fundamentally different from traditional courses. This book begins by setting the context explaining the differences between service and volunteerism and linking service learning to the larger issues of citizenship and democracy. It then provides activities exercises and other resources to develop students skills of reflection teamwork and cultural competence and to help them plan work with community partners exercise leadership and manage change. The authors provide a framework for students to assess their progress and communicate final results to all stakeholders. By linking service learning to the learning goals of the student s course this workbook constitutes the ideal companion to disciplinary course readings. It is equally suitable for courses of a few weeks or a few months duration. The exercises can be undertaken by the students by themselves or together with their peers and can be incorporated as class activities by the teacher. This succinct and conversationally written guide will engage and motivate your students while developing the skills to succeed in their service learning.
