The Dynamics Of Hired Farm Labour Constraints And Community Responses:

The Dynamics of Hired Farm Labour A. Vandeman, J. Larson, J. Runyan, 2002 Hired seasonal labour forms a significant part of the agricultural workforce in many countries Key topics covered in this book include changes in the hired farm workforce area studies and community impacts and responses and the need for community services The Dynamics of Hired Farm Labour, 2002 Latinos in the New South Owen J. Furuseth, Heather A. Smith, 2016-12-05 Latinos have emerged as one of the fastest growing ethnic populations in the American South A New South is taking shape in a region where culture and class relations have traditionally been constructed along black white divides and experience absorbing culturally or linguistically foreign immigrants has been limited This book presents a multidisciplinary examination of the impacts and responses across the Southeastern United States to contemporary Latino immigration The rapid and large scale movement of Latinos into the region has challenged old precepts and forced Southerners to confront the impacts of globalization and transnationalism in their daily lives Drawing on theoretical perspectives as well as empirical research the work provides insights into the Latino experience in both urban and rural locales Each chapter is centred on the nexus between the immigrants experiences in settling and adapting to new lives in the American South and the construction of transformed social economic political and cultural spaces Agriculture, Forestry, and Fishing Research at NIOSH Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee to Review the NIOSH Agriculture, Forestry, and Fishing Research Program, 2008-07-10 The agriculture forestry and fishing sectors are the cornerstone of industries that produce food fiber and biofuel The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health NIOSH conducts research in order to improve worker safety and health in these sectors This National Research Council book reviews the NIOSH Agriculture Forestry and Fishing Program to evaluate the 1 relevance of its work to improvements in occupational safety and health and 2 the impact of research in reducing workplace illnesses and injuries The assessment reveals that the program has made meaningful contributions to improving worker safety and health in these fields To enhance the relevance and impact of its work and fulfill its mission the NIOSH Agriculture Forestry and Fishing Program should provide national leadership coordination of research and activities to transfer findings technologies and information into practice The program will also benefit from establishing strategic goals and implementing a comprehensive surveillance system in order to better identify and track worker populations at risk Going for Broke Doreen Atkinson, 2007 South African agriculture has always been ideologically contested because of its relationship with controversial land ownership issues This book takes the question of farm workers fortunes beyond the land debate to consider their current and future livelihoods The book argues that the question of farm workers needs to be understood as part of a broader spectrum of economic and social questions Where should farm workers live Should rural urban migration be encouraged What kind of job prospects can be fostered How can their participation in the rural and peri urban economy be promoted Do farm workers need land or jobs or municipal services Who should provide support to this neglected segment of society A valuable study of past policy failures and future policy options the book is primarily aimed at policy makers and students of rural development It is explicitly aimed at promoting new approaches synergies and partnerships amongst stakeholders including government commercial farmers agricultural co operatives municipalities training agencies and farm worker trade unions The book also offers suggestions that transcend the South African rural experience It can therefore serve as a case study for students and practitioners of rural development elsewhere in the developing world Publisher s description Amber Waves ,2003
