The Culture of Architecture in Enlightenment Rome Heather Hyde Minor,2010 Examines the nexus of learned culture and architecture in the 1730s to 1750s including major building projects in Rome undertaken by the popes     Making Modern Paris Christopher Curtis Mead,2012 Investigates how architecture technology politics and urban planning came together in French architect Victor Baltard s creation of the Central Markets of Paris Presents a case study of the historical process that produced modern Paris between 1840 and 1870     Freedom and the Cage Leslie Topp,2017-03-28 Spurred by ideals of individual liberty that took hold in the Western world in the late nineteenth century psychiatrists and public officials sought to reinvent asylums as large scale totally designed institutions that offered a level of freedom and normality impossible in the outside world This volume explores the caged freedom that this new psychiatric ethos represented by analyzing seven such buildings established in the Austro Hungarian monarchy between the late 1890s and World War I In the last two decades of the Habsburg Empire architects of asylums began to abandon traditional corridor based plans in favor of looser formations of connected villas echoing through design the urban and freedom oriented impulse of the progressive architecture of the time Leslie Topp considers the paradoxical position of designs that promoted an illusion of freedom even as they exercised careful social and spatial control over patients In addition to discussing the physical and social aspects of these institutions Topp shows how the commissioned buildings were symptomatic of larger cultural changes and of the modern asylum s straining against its ideological anchorage in a premodern past of unenlightened restraint on human liberty Working at the intersection of the history of architecture and the history of psychiatry Freedom and the Cage broadens our understanding of the complexity and fluidity of modern architecture s engagement with the state with social and medical projects and with mental health psychiatry and psychology     Marrakesh and the Mountains Abbey Stockstill,2024-05-21 Over the course of the Almoravid 1040 1147 and Almohad 1121 1269 dynasties medieval Marrakesh evolved from an informal military encampment into a thriving metropolis that attempted to translate a local and distinctly rural past into a broad imperial architectural vernacular In Marrakesh and the Mountains Abbey Stockstill convincingly demonstrates that the city s surrounding landscape provided the principal mode of negotiation between these identities The contours of medieval Marrakesh were shaped in the twelfth century transition between the two empires of Berber origin These dynasties constructed their imperial authority through markedly different approaches to urban space reflecting their respective concerns in communicating complex identities that fluctuated between paradigmatically Islamic and distinctly local Using interdisciplinary methodologies to reconstruct this urban environment Stockstill broadens the analysis of Marrakesh s medieval architecture to explore the interrelated interactions among the city s monuments and its highly resonant landscape Marrakesh and the Mountains integrates Marrakesh into the context of urbanism in the wider Islamic world and grants the Almoravid and Almohad dynasties agency over the creation and instantiation of their imperial capital Lushly illustrated and erudite Marrakesh and the Mountains is a vital history of this storied Moroccan city This is a must have book for scholars specializing in the Almoravid and Almohad eras and a vital volume for students of medieval urbanism Islamic architecture and Mediterranean and African studies

The Accidental Palace Deniz Türker,2023-01-03 This book tells the story of Yıldız Palace in Istanbul the last and largest imperial residential complex of the Ottoman Empire Today the palace is physically fragmented and has been all but erased from Istanbul's urban memory At its peak however Yıldız was a global city in miniature and the center of the empire's vast bureaucratic apparatus Following a chronological arc from 1795 to 1909 The Accidental Palace shows how the site developed from a rural estate of the queen mothers into the heart of Ottoman government Nominally the palace may have belonged to the rarefied realm of the Ottoman elite but as Deniz Türker reveals the development of the site was profoundly connected to Istanbul's urban history and to changing conceptions of empire absolutism diplomacy reform and the public Türker explores these connections framing Yıldız Palace and its grounds not only as a hermetic expression of imperial identity but also as a product of an increasingly globalized consumer culture defined by access to a vast number of goods and services across geographical boundaries Drawn from archival research conducted in Yıldız's imperial library The Accidental Palace provides important insights into a decisive moment in the palace's architectural and landscape history and demonstrates how Yıldız was inextricably tied to ideas of sovereignty visibility taste and self fashioning It will appeal to specialists in the art architecture politics and culture of nineteenth century Turkey and the Ottoman Empire

Architectural Revolution on the Ottoman Frontier Emily Neumeier,2024-11-26 In the early nineteenth century the most consequential developments in Ottoman architecture were taking place not in Istanbul but in the farthest reaches of imperial territory Emily Neumeier investigates this wider phenomenon through a consideration of the architecture of Ali Pasha of Ioannina one of the most prolific patrons in the history of the Ottoman Empire who undertook a building program so ambitious that it ultimately got him killed Ali Pasha is still a household name in present day Greece and Albania where he served as Ottoman governor from 1788 to 1822 To consolidate his rule over an incredibly diverse population the governor set out on a sweeping building program that included mosques palaces military fortifications dervish lodges and even Orthodox Christian monasteries Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources Neumeier reveals how Ali Pasha's buildings shifted the sociopolitical order by testing the standards of patronage established by the imperial court and relocating administrative authority from center to province To reconstruct the world that Ali Pasha built Neumeier draws from both extensive fieldwork and abundant archival material whose far flung nature from Istanbul to London reflects the impressively wide scope of Ali Pasha's influence Rigorously researched and packed with fascinating stories this book presents an innovative spatial history of the Ottoman frontier during the age of revolutions a pivotal period in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries when there was no obvious blueprint for power It will be of interest to specialists in art and architectural history the Ottoman Empire and Mediterranean Islamic and Modern Greek studies

The festivals of the four months caturmāsa stand apart from other festive occasions in Kathmandu Nepal in their overriding concern with death These festivals are sacrificial feasts dealing with the riddle of life and death in the Hindu Buddhist context of South Asia Caturmasa festivals are collective supralocal affairs crossing the border between the upper and the lower part of the town they involve the whole town of Kathmandu and the king of Nepal who is both sacrificer and victim The two main themes of the celebrations of death are sacrifice and kingship     The Architect King David Watkin,2004 The broad interdisciplinary approach of Professor Watkin s wide ranging text suggests new lines of enquiry for historians of architecture and art and offers valuable insights for student of landscape design court studies and political history Jacket
