The Demotic Magical Papyrus of London and Leiden ,1904      The Demotic Magical Papyrus of London and Leiden (The Leyden Papyrus) and The Story of Nefrekepta Various Authors,2025-08-28 THE demotic magical papyrus of London and Leiden was discovered at Thebes with other papyri principally Greek but dealing with subjects of a like nature in the early part of the last century and was bought by Anastasi who was at that time Swedish consul at Alexandria and made a large collection of Egyptian MSS When Anastasi obtained the MS it must already have been torn into two parts and it is even probable that he obtained the two parts at different times since he sold his Egyptian collections including the Leiden MS to the Dutch government in 1828 while the London portion was bought at the sale of his later collections at Paris in 1857 for the British Museum No 1072 in Lenormant's Catalogue The Leiden fragment was made known to the world much earlier than that in the British Museum Its importance for the deciphering of the demotic script by the help of the numerous glosses in Graeco Coptic characters was at once perceived by the distinguished scholar Reuvens at that time Director of the Leiden Museum of Antiquities who proceeded to study it carefully and in 1830 published an admirable essay in which he sketched the principal contents of the MS and indicated its value for the progress of demotic studies He then took in hand its reproduction and the MS was lithographed in facsimile under his direction and he had corrected the proofs of the first plate when he was cut off by a premature death in 1835 his work was carried to completion and published by his successor in the Directorship of the Museum Leemans in 1839 Heinrich Brugsch studied it closely and drew from it most of the examples quoted in his Demotic Grammar published in 1855 but although later scholars have frequently quoted from it and translated fragments of it the MS has hitherto remained without complete translation commentary or glossary The London MS however lay from 1857 onwards almost unnoticed in the British Museum To the late Dr Pleyte Leemans successor at Leiden belongs the credit of discovering that the two MSS originally formed one He had studied the Leiden portion and at once recognized the handwriting of its fellow in London Without publishing the fact he communicated it to Professor Hess of Freiburg when the latter was working in Leiden on the MS there Professor Hess went on to London and having fully confirmed Dr Pleyte's statement published in 1892 a reproduction of the British Museum MS with an introduction including the translation of one column and a glossary

Thompson,2016-06-01 How to invoke Anubis and release the dead how to divine with a lamp how to conjure up a damned spirit how to have dream visions how to make magic ointments how to blind or kill your enemies how to use the charm of the ring how to invoke Thoth and bring good fortune These are among the many topics of practical magic contained in the so called Leyden Papyrus an ancient Egyptian manuscript that dates from around the beginning of the Christian era Probably the textbook of a practicing sorcerer in Egypt this remarkable work containing scores of spells which the writer firmly believes will work sex magic of various sorts occult information evoking visions working evil healing removing evil magic and all the other tasks that a sorcerer might have to undertake Discovered at Thebes in the middle of the 19th century assembled from fragments at Leiden and London this fifteen foot strip of papyrus is still one of the most important documents for revealing the potions spells incantations and other forms of magic worked in Egypt In addition to purely native elements involving the gods the manuscript shows the influence of Gnostic beliefs Greek magic and other magical traditions A transliteration of the demotic script is printed on facing pages with a complete translation which is copiously supplied with explanatory footnotes The editors supply an informative introduction and a classification of the types of magic involved As a result this publication is of great importance to the Egyptologist student of magic and the reader who wishes to judge the efficacy of Egyptian magic for himself The Demotic Magical Papyrus of London and Leiden Francis Llewellyn

L. Griffith,Herbert Thompson,2013-11 An excerpt from the beginning of the PREFACE The MS dating from the third century A D which is here edited for the first time in a single whole has long been known to scholars Its subject matter magic and medicine is not destitute of interest It is closely connected with the Greek magical papyri from Egypt of the same period but being written in demotic naturally does not reproduce the Greek hymns which are so important a feature of those papyri The influence of purely Greek mythology also is here by comparison very slight hardly greater than that of the Alexandrian Judaism which has supplied a number of names of Hellenistic form to the demotic magician Mithraism has apparently contributed nothing at all Christianity probably only a deformed reference to the Father in Heaven On the other hand as might have been expected Egyptian mythology has an overwhelmingly strong position and whereas the Greek papyri scarcely go beyond Hermes Anubis and the Osiris legend the demotic magician introduces Khons Amon and many other Egyptian gods Also whereas the former assume a knowledge of the modus operandi in divination by the lamp and bowl the latter describes it in great detail But the papyrus is especially interesting for the language in which it is written It is probably the latest Egyptian MS which we possess written in the demotic script and it presents us with the form of the language as written almost as spoken by the pagans at the time when the Greek alphabet was being adopted by the Christians It must not be forgotten too that this is the document which contributed perhaps more than any other to the decipherment of demotic partly through its numerous Greek glosses We have therefore thought that a complete edition with special reference to its philological importance would be useful
