The Deeds of Pope Innocent III by an Anonymous Author, 2004 The Deeds of Pope Innocent III James M. Powell, 2004-03 The translator provides an engaging introduction and adds numerous explanatory notes throughout the book Those who seek a fuller understanding of the development of the papacy during a period of great change in medieval religious history will find this work essential BOOK JACKET Documenting the Past in Medieval Puglia (1130-1266) Paul Oldfield, 2023 A study exploring the production of historical memory in the region of Puglia after it was subsumed by the new Kingdom of Sicily in 1130 assessing the significance of the apparent disappearance of traditional forms of Pugliese historical writing and analyzing the existence of other historical discourses embedded in surviving local documentation

The Papacy, Frederick II and Communal Devotion in Medieval Italy James M. Powell, edited by Edward Peters, 2024-10-28 Of the twenty five essays in this volume most were published between 1961 and 2013 but four are printed here for the first time They represent the work of a great and original scholar in Mediterranean history whose unflagging interest in Frederick II and his world consistently led him out into broader fields which he always viewed in original ways In an age often called that of papal monarchy and secular minded rulers Powell found popes with complex agendas and extensive pastoral concerns a rather more Christian Frederick II the human personnel and mechanics of the Fifth Crusade the sermons of the devout urban layman Albertanus of Brescia and Muslims under Christian rule His studies here assert a continuity between the pontificates of Innocent III and Honorius III as well as the pragmatic necessity that only secular rulers could launch and direct crusading expeditions His interest in the northern Italian communes relates their devotional culture to the ideals of virtuous government and communal identity The devotional culture of the communes was to be the subject of his next book now unfinished several parts of it could be rescued and are now included here The Deeds of Pope

Innocent III James M. Powell, 2004-03 The Deeds of Pope Innocent III composed before 1210 by an anonymous member of the papal curia provides a unique window into the activities policies and strategies of the papacy and the curia during one of the most important periods in the history of the medieval church The Papacy and Crusading in Europe, 1198-1245

Rebecca Rist, 2011-11-03 An internal crusade is defined as a holy war authorized by the pope and fought within Christian Europe against those perceived to be foes of Christendom either to recover property or in defense of the Church or Christians This study is therefore not concerned with those crusades authorized against Muslim enemies in the East and Spain nor with crusades authorized against pagans on the borders of Europe Up to now these crusades have attracted relatively little attention in modern British scholarship This in spite of their undoubted European wide significance and an increasing recognition that the period 1198 1245 marks the beginning of a crucial change in papal policy underpinned by canon law This book discusses the developments through analysis of the extensive source material drawn from unregistered papal letters placing them firmly in the context of ecclesiastical legislation canon law chronicles and other supplementary evidence It thereby seeks to contribute to our understanding of the complex politics theology and rhetoric that underlay the papacy's call for crusades within Europe in the first half of the thirteenth century

The Reception of Papal Legates in England, 1170-1250 Emil Lauge Christensen, 2025-04 Considers the reception of legatine missions to England during a significant period in the development of Anglo-Papal relations Papal legates as the most powerful representatives of the pope wielded significant influence in establishing and upholding papal authority throughout Christendom The adventus the elaborate ceremony of lordship on their arrival provided a reception to mark their status While the ceremony was ostensibly a straightforward display of power communicating the lordship and authority of the papal legate and a tool for establishing negotiating and gauging the relationship between the pope and other European powers it was also susceptible to manipulation and distortion This book investigates how four chroniclers Roger of Howden Gervase of Canterbury Roger of Wendover and Matthew Paris observed and interpreted such legatine adventus ceremonies in England in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries These writers aware of the curia's view that the reception of a papal legate signified acquiescence to papal authority and hegemony offer a range of responses from ridicule to praise Drawing on chronicles customaries decretals and other sources it sheds new light on the intricate interplay between the expectations of both the papacy and the legates and the diverse viewpoints found in the response of English writers

The Cult of St Thomas Becket in the Plantagenet World, C.1170-c.1220 Paul Webster (Medievalist), Marie-Pierre Gelin, 2016 The extraordinary growth and development of the cult of St Thomas Becket is investigated here with a particular focus on its material culture Thomas Becket the archbishop of Canterbury cut down in his own cathedral just after Christmas 1170 stands amongst the most renowned royal ministers churchmen and saints of the Middle Ages He inspired the work of medieval writers and artists and remains a compelling subject for historians today Yet many of the political religious and cultural repercussions of his murder and subsequent canonisation remain to be explored in detail This book examines the development of the cult and the impact of the legacy of Saint Thomas within the Plantagenet orbit of the late twelfth and early thirteenth centuries the Empire assembled by King Henry II defended by his son King Richard the Lionheart and lost by King John Traditional textual and archival sources such as miracle collections charters and royal and papal letters are used in conjunction with the material culture inspired by the cult to emphasise the wide ranging impact of the murder and of the cult's emergence in the century following the martyrdom From the archiepiscopal church at Canterbury to writers and religious houses across the Plantagenet lands to the courts of Henry II his children and the bishops of the Angevin world individuals and communities adapted and responded to one of the most extraordinary religious phenomena of the age Dr Paul Webster is currently Lecturer in Medieval History and Project Manager of the Exploring the Past adult learners progression pathway at Cardiff University Dr Marie Pierre Gelin is a Teaching Fellow in the History Department at University College London Contributors Colette Bowie Elma Brenner Jos Manuel Cerda Anne J Duggan Marie Pierre Gelin Alyce A Jordan Michael Staunton Paul Webster

Pope Innocent III and

the secular crusades James Pinnock, 2018-02-28 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject History of Europe Middle Ages Early Modern Age grade 74 0% Durham University language English abstract Propagated in his papal bull of April 1213 the Vineam domini sabaoth is Pope Innocent III's essential conception of and approach to his duty as Supreme Pontiff Among all the good things which our heart can desire there are two in this world which we value above all that is to promote the recovery of the Holy Land and the reform of the universal church This bull summoning the ecclesiastical leaders of Western Christendom to the Fourth Lateran Council provides an essential background to our examination of crusade during the pontificate of Pope Innocent III It reflects the crucial foundation by which Innocent directed his efforts and the efforts of his curia in the years 1198 1216 whereby crusade and crusading achieved a primacy in the formulation of papal policy unrivalled up to this point in the history of the crusading movement a primacy which was challenged only but importantly not surpassed by the reform of the universal church
