Nation and Citizen in the Dominican Republic, 1880-1916 Teresita Martínez-Vergne, 2006-05-18 Combining intellectual and social history Teresita Mart nez Vergne explores the processes by which people in the Dominican Republic began to hammer out a common sense of purpose and a modern national identity at the end of the nineteenth and beginning of the twentieth centuries Hoping to build a nation of hardworking peaceful voting citizens the Dominican intelligentsia impressed on the rest of society a discourse of modernity based on secular education private property modern agricultural techniques and an open political process Black immigrants bourgeois women and working class men and women in the capital city of Santo Domingo and in the booming sugar town of San Pedro de Macor's however formed their own surprisingly modern notions of citizenship in daily interactions with city officials Mart nez Vergne shows just how difficult it was to reconcile the lived realities of people of color women and the working poor with elite notions of citizenship entitlement and identity She concludes that the urban setting rather than defusing the impact of race class and gender within a collective sense of belonging as intellectuals had envisioned instead contributed to keeping these distinctions intact thus limiting what could be considered Dominican Constitution of the Dominican Republic Dominican Republic, 1925 The Dominican Republic and the Beginning of a Revolutionary Cycle in the Spanish Caribbean Luis Álvarez-López, 2009-07-29 In this book lvarez L pez details the history of revolution in the Dominican Republic which was an infant independent nation struggling to preserve its political independence from Haiti and from the expansionist policies of northern European countries and the United States In 1861 the Dominican Republic was annexed to Spain The Spanish empire expansionist policy sought to preserve Cuba and Puerto Rico and the acquisition of the Dominican Republic strengthened Spain's hold on the Antilles Empire Spain's policies strengthened the political objectives of the Dominican ruling class which were political stability and control of the political power under a Caucasian empire While both these objectives were achieved the new colonial experiment was a total failure The exclusion of the native ruling class over taxation economic exploitation coercive imposition of the Catholic Church customs prejudice against blacks and mulattos led to war ending with the defeat of the Spanish Empire This defeat opened a revolutionary cycle in the Spanish Caribbean This is the Dominican Republic Dominican Republic,1958 Constitution of the Dominican Republic, 1962 Dominican Republic,1964 Outline of Progress in the Dominican Republic Dominican Republic,1960 The Dominican Republic and the United States G. development of state society relations since the late nineteenth century Emelio Betances argues that the groundwork for the establishment of a modern state was laid during the regimes of Ulises Heureaux and Ram 1 2 1 2res The U S military government that followed later expanded and strengthened political and administrative centralization Between 1886 and 1924 these administrations opened the sugar industry to foreign capital investment integrated Dominican finance into the international credit system and expanded the role of the military State expansion however was not accompanied by a strengthening of the social and economic base of national elites Betances suggests that the imbalance between a strong state and a weak civil society provided the structural framework for the emergence in 1930 of the long lived Trujillo dictatorship Examining the links between Trujillo and current caudillo Joaquin Balaguer the author traces continuities and discontinuities in economic and political development through a study of import substitution programs the reemergence of new economic groups and the use of the military to counter threats to the status quo Finally he explores the impact of foreign intervention and socioeconomic change on the process of state and class formation since 1961
