

We Sat At The Window

(Bournemouth, 1875)

*We sat at the window looking out,
And the rain came down like silken strings
That Swithin's day. Each gutter and spout
Babbled unchecked in the busy way
Of witless things:
Nothing to read, nothing to see
Seemed in that room for her and me
On Swithin's day.*

*We were irked by the scene, by our own selves; yes,
For I did not know, nor did she infer
How much there was to read and guess
By her in me, and to see and crown
By me in her.
Wasted were two souls in their prime,
And great was the waste, that July time
When the rain came down.*

The Art of Thomas Hardy Lionel Johnson, John Lane, 1895

Thomas Hardy and the Death of Emma Andrew Norman, 2024-08-30 A collection of poems reflecting Thomas Hardy's tumultuous marriage to Emma Gifford. In many of his poems the great Dorset poet and novelist Thomas Hardy referred to a certain romantic courtship a marriage which became progressively more problematical and finally to a bereavement in which a man loses his wife. So who was Hardy writing about? The clue is to be found in his early poems where the names of several locations in North Cornwall are mentioned this being the very same place which featured in Hardy's courtship of Emma Gifford who was to become his first wife. The poems raise certain questions. Given that Hardy and Emma gradually drifted apart so that in the end they lived mainly separate lives albeit under the same roof why was he so grief stricken when she died bearing in mind that their marriage was so unsatisfactory? How did Hardy cope as he passed through the various stages of grief which he articulated so poignantly and expressively in his poems? These stages are recognized today thanks to the work of Swiss US psychiatrist Elisabeth Kbler Ross and US expert on grieving and loss David Kessler. Finally how did Hardy survive and come out the other side and can his experience be a guide to others who find themselves alone and bereft after losing their partner.

Perception, Class and Environment in the Works of Thomas Hardy Roger Ebbatson, 2023-09-28 This book examines Thomas Hardy's writing in both prose and poetry focusing on issues of perception, being class and environment. It illustrates the ways in which Hardy represents a social world which serves as a horizon for the individual and explores the dialectic between the perceptible world and human consciousness. Ebbatson demonstrates how in Hardy's oeuvre modern life becomes alienated from its roots in rural life; individual freedom is achieved in works like Tess of the d'Urbervilles, Jude the Obscure or The Woodlanders at the cost of personal insecurity and a deepening sense of homelessness. However, this development occurs against the marginalisation of dialect forms of speech. This book also explores how Hardy's impressionist vision serves to undermine the prevailing conventions of plot structure.
