Building Adaptation James Douglas, 2006-08-11 As existing buildings age nearly half of all construction activity in Britain is related to maintenance refurbishment and conversions Building adaptation is an activity that continues to make a significant contribution to the workload of the construction industry Given its importance to sustainable construction the proportion of adaptation works in relation to new build is likely to remain substantial for the foreseeable future especially in the developed parts of the world Building Adaptation Second Edition is intended as a primer on the physical changes that can affect older properties It demonstrates the general principles techniques and processes needed when existing buildings must undergo alteration conversion extension improvement or refurbishment The publication of the first edition of Building Adaptation reflected the upsurge in refurbishment work The book quickly established itself as one of the core texts for building surveying students and others on undergraduate and postgraduate built environment courses This new edition continues to provide a comprehensive introduction to all the key issues relating to the adaptation of buildings. It deals with any work to a building over and above maintenance to change its capacity, function or performance. Understanding the Olympics John Horne, Garry Whannel, 2016-05-20. The Olympic Games is unquestionably the greatest sporting event in the world with billions of viewers across the globe. How did the Olympics evolve into this multi-national phenomenon? How can the Olympics help us to understand the relationship between sport and society? What will be the impact and legacy of the 2016 Olympics in Rio? Now in a fully revised and updated new edition that places Rio 2016 in the foreground, Understanding the Olympics answers all these questions by exploring the social, cultural, political, historical and economic context of the Games. This book presents the latest research on the Olympics including new material on legacy, sustainability and corruption and introduces the reader to all of the key themes of contemporary Olympic Studies including the history of the Olympics, Olympic politics, access and equity, the Olympics and the media, festival and spectacle, the Olympic economy, urban development, Olympic futures. The most up-to-date and authoritative introduction to the Olympic Games, this book contains a full Olympic history timeline as well as illustrations, information boxes and Olympic Stories in every chapter. Understanding the Olympics is essential reading for anybody with an interest in the Olympics or the wider relationship between sport and society.

Constructing Professional Discourse Concepción Orna-Montesinos, 2012-01-17. This book explores the fascinating role that language plays in the construction of non-verbal objects by mapping out the ontological meaning of the specialised concepts and the domain-specific knowledge embedded in them. In doing so, it provides a comprehensive linguistic insight into the discourse of professional domain-specific communities and hence into the communication practices and procedures of those communities. In this respect, the book offers a response to the claims made by many of the most influential applied linguists today such as Vijay Bhatia (1993, 2004), John Swales (1990, 2004) or Ken Hyland (2002) among others who have consistently defended the need for applied linguistic research into the textual, generic and social perspectives on the under-researched interrelatedness of the discursive and professional practices of a discipline. Specifically, this book provides readers with an integrative, multi-perspective approach to the study of professional domain-specific discourses. While it mainly draws on the tenets of genre theory and discourse semantics, it also nurtures from the theoretical and empirical foundations of applied linguistics, cognitive linguistics, corpus linguistics and ontological engineering. The book starts from the analysis of domain-specific texts as final written products with specific lexicogrammatical, semantic and rhetorical features to later enquire into the written products as textual artefacts closely linked to the social context of production and interpretation of the text. This integrative approach provides fresh new insights into the way the processes of writing are affected by the community-specific institutional and socio-historical circumstances in which domain-specific texts are produced.
