Sites Unseen Dianne Suzette Harris, D. Fairchild Ruggles, 2007 Sites Unseen challenges conventions for viewing and interpreting the landscape using visual theory to move beyond traditional practices of describing and classifying objects to explore notions of audience and context Treats landscape as a spatial psychological and sensory encounter opening a new dialogue for discussing the landscape outside the boundaries of current art criticism and theory Sites Unseen Dianne Suzette Harris, D. Fairchild Ruggles, 2007 Sites Unseen challenges conventions for viewing and interpreting the landscape using visual theory to move beyond traditional practices of describing and classifying objects to explore notions of audience and context While other fields such as art history and geography have engaged poststructuralist theory to consider vision and representation the application of such inquiry to the natural or built environment has lagged behind This book by treating landscape as a spatial psychological and sensory encounter aims to bridge this gap opening a new dialogue for discussing the landscape outside the boundaries of current art criticism and theory As the contributors reveal the landscape is a widely adaptable medium that can be employed literally or metaphorically to convey personal or institutional ideologies Walls gates churchyards and arches become framing devices for a staged aesthetic experience or to suit a sociopolitical agenda The optic stimulation of signs symbols bodies and objects combines with physical acts of climbing and walking and sensory acts of touching smelling and hearing to evoke an overall vision of landscape Sites Unseen considers a variety of different perspectives including ancient Roman visions of landscape the framing techniques of a Moghul palace and a contemporary case study of Christo's The Gates as examples of human attempts to shape our sensory cognitive and emotional experiences in the landscape Exploring the Boundaries of Landscape Architecture Simon Bell, Ingrid Herlin, Richard

Stiles, 2011-02-20 What have cultural anthropologists historical geographers landscape ecologists and environmental artists got in common Along with eight other disciplines from domains as diverse as planning and design the arts and humanities as well as the social and natural sciences they are all fields of importance to the theory and practice of landscape architecture In the context of the EU funded LE NOTRE Project carried out under the auspices of ECLAS the European Council of Landscape Architecture Schools international experts from a wide range of related fields were asked to reflect each from their own perspective on the interface between their discipline and landscape architecture The resulting insights presented in this book represent an important contribution to the development the discipline of landscape architecture as well as suggesting new ways in which future collaboration can help to create a greater interdisciplinary richness at a time when the awareness of the importance of the landscape is growing across a wide range of disciplines Exploring the Boundaries of Landscape Architecture is the first systematic attempt to explore the territory at the boundaries of landscape architecture It addresses academics professionals and students not just from landscape architecture but also from its neighbouring discipline all of whom will benefit from a better understanding their areas of shared interest and the chance to develop a common language with which to converse      Representing Landscapes Nadia Amoroso, Martin Holland, 2022-03-23 This volume provides an in depth historical overview of graphic and visual communication styles techniques and outputs from key landscape architects over the past century Representing Landscapes One Hundred Years of Visual Communication offers a detailed account of how past and present landscape architects and practitioners have harnessed the power of visualization to frame and situate their designs within the larger cultural social ecological and political milieu The fifth book in the Representing Landscapes series the presentations contained within each of the 25 chapters of this work are not merely drawings and illustrations but are rather graphic touchstones whose past and current influence shapes how landscape architects think and operate within the profession This collected volume of essays gathers notable landscape historians scholars and designers to offer their insights on how the landscape has been presented and charts the development and use of new technologies and contemporary theory to reveal the conceptual power of the living medium of the larger landscape Richly detailed with over 220 colour and black and white illustrations from some of the discipline s best known landscape architects and designers this work is a must have for those studying contemporary landscape design or those fascinated by the profession s history      Islamic Gardens and Landscapes D. Fairchild Ruggles, 2011-12-30 Western admirers have long seen the Islamic garden as an earthly reflection of the paradise said to await the faithful However such simplification Ruggles contends denies the sophistication and diversity of the art form Islamic Gardens and Landscapes immerses the reader in the world of the architects of the great gardens of the Islamic world from medieval Morocco to contemporary India Just as Islamic culture is historically dense sophisticated and complex so too is the history of its built landscapes Islamic gardens began from the practical need to organize the surrounding space of human civilization tame nature enhance the earth s yield and create a legible map on which to distribute natural resources Ruggles follows the evolution of these early farming efforts to their aristocratic apex in famous formal gardens of the Alhambra in Spain and the Taj Mahal in Agra Whether in a humble city home or a royal courtyard the garden has several defining characteristics which Ruggles discusses Most notable is an enclosed space divided into four equal parts surrounding a central design element The traditional Islamic garden is inwardly focused usually surrounded by buildings or in the form of a courtyard Water provides a counterpoint to the portioned green sections Ranging across poetry court documents agronomy manuals and early garden representations and richly illustrated with pictures and site plans Islamic Gardens and Landscapes is a book of impressive scope sure to interest scholars and enthusiasts alike      Visuality/Materiality Divya P. Tolia-Kelly, 2016-02-11 Two of the key theoretical shifts over the past two decades of critical work have been the visual turn and the material turn This book argues that these hitherto distinct fields should be understood as in continual dialogue and co constitution and focuses on reconceptualising the visual as an embodied material and often politically charged realm This edited volume elaborates this conceptual argument through a series of contemporary case studies drawn from the disciplines of Architecture Sociology Media Studies Geography and Cultural Studies The case studies included are paired around four themes consumption translation practice and ethics As well as exploring the bringing together of visuality and materiality studies the contributors raise questions of social identity and social critique and also focus on the ethics of material visualities Landscape Architecture ,2008 Landscape and Identity Kurt D. Springs,2015 The Chalcolithic wedge tombs of Ireland represent a dramatic re emergence of megalithism over a millennium after most Neolithic megaliths were built and many centuries after most had gone out of use This resurgence of building monuments associated with the dead may well have been associated with a period of social instability caused by the expansion of exchange networks and associated with the introduction of metallurgy Regional group and individual identities all seem to have undergone change at this time probably in a dynamic demographic context Variations in the distribution and scale of wedge tombs in Co Clare on the west coast of Ireland provide an interesting study that may reveal a pattern of clan affiliations status competition and enduring links to an important and ancient locale
