A System of National Education (Classic Reprint) Aurobindo Ghose, Lecturers in Economics Kirorimal College Aurobindo Ghose, 2017-12-02 Excerpt from A System of National Education There can be no doubt that the Educational System of Europe is a great advance on the many methods of antiquity but its defects are also palpable It is based on an insufficient knowledge of human psychology and it is only safeguarded in Europe from disastrous results by the refusal of the ordinary student to subject himself to the processes it involves his habit of studying only so much as he must to avoid punishment or to pass an immediate test his resort to active habits and vigorous physical exercise In India the disastrous effects of the system on body mind and character are only too apparent The first problem in a National System of Education is to give an Education as comprehensive as the European and more thorough without the evils of strain and cramming About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

C. Colquhoun,2015-07-10 Excerpt from The System of National Education in Ireland Its Principle and Practice The object of these pages may be briefly stated It is not I entreat the public to understand the exposure of Mr Carlyle or of any of the Commissioners of the Board of National Education That object would never have induced me to take up the pen The conduct of the Commissioners is a matter quite incidental to the question and on which if I could have avoided it I should have been glad to pronounce no opinion My object was the exposure of the system and of that system the Commissioners form but a small part The evil lies in the machine not in the men who work it They of course become implicated by their position but if they were changed again and again the mischief would remain unmitigated That evil lies in uniting together men of opposite religious opinions and committing to them the superintendence of popular education That is the inherent vice of the system and wherever that vice is repeated the same results will appear It is all the more necessary to bring this before the public at the present time that an attempt is made to infuse the venom of this system both into England and Scotland A struggle has commenced and with the same party a struggle to establish Liberalism in education Liberalism in religion or the Voluntary System has for some years been obtruded upon us Liberalism in education is now thrust on our notice About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

National Education and Punishments (Classic Reprint) C. Adderley,2017-12-25 Excerpt from A Few Thoughts on National Education and Punishments In testing whether there be any surplus power in our educational apparatus I consider what the best schools do under our present system It is said by those who wish to decry the voluntary efforts which have led the way that the existing schools are bad and that the ministers of religion have been the cause of detriment to them I am far from thinking that all that has been done has succeeded in making education what it should be and I doubt if School Boards will succeed better but the question I wish to raise is whether the present system when fully carried out with teachers schools and apparatus according to its assumed standard of excellence is not in advance of its given work and if so capable of doing more About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve
