who aspire to become effective reflective design and technology teachers Learning to Teach Design and Technology in the Secondary School Gwyneth Owen-Jackson, 2013-01-11 Design and technology is a subject that interests and excites most young people. It requires them to work both practically and theoretically to investigate and research, design, plan, make and evaluate. It encourages creativity, decision making and problem solving as pupils get to grips with real needs and real products. Design and technology covers work with electronics, food, materials such as wood, metal, plastics and textiles and requires the development of graphical skills, practical skills and theoretical knowledge and understanding. Learning to Teach Design and Technology in the Secondary School second edition aims to help student teachers develop their subject knowledge and professional knowledge and skills. It looks at the theory underpinning important issues and links this to practice in the classroom. Fully updated to take account of changes in the curriculum, there are new chapters on teaching graphics, 14-19 vocational qualifications and cross-curricular links to literacy, numeracy, citizenship and sustainability. There are also chapters on design and technology in the school curriculum, developing areas of subject knowledge, the importance of health and safety, the use of ICT in the teaching of design and technology, planning lessons, managing the classroom, assessment issues, the integration of citizenship and sustainability into design and technology, your own professional development. Bringing together insights from current educational theory and the best contemporary classroom teaching and learning, this book will prove an invaluable resource in enhancing the quality of initial school experience for the student teacher.

Using Technology to Increase Student Learning Linda E. Reksten, 2000-03-20 All across the country teachers, superintendents, directors of curriculum and especially principals are being pressured to develop quality technology programs. Business leaders consider technological expertise to be mandatory for success in the workplace; parents feel technology training is as basic as reading, writing and arithmetic. And here is the first step toward a solution: a practical, jargon-free pathway for principals to create the best possible environment for implementing and teaching technology, including a detailed exploration of the principal's role in leadership, curriculum planning and implementation. A must for education in the 21st century. Includes a list of related Web sites and a glossary of technical terms. Integrating Educational Technology Into Teaching M. D. Roblyer, 2006 Side A of this DVD contains the navigation structure for accessing the contents on this DVD and side B contains video files for the clips from the classroom section. Journal of Computing in Teacher Education, 2002
