Pawlas, 2013-10-11 This large collection of handy ideas features easy to use tools comprehensive checklists and sets of Do's and Don'ts advisories It provides guidelines on how to conduct effective parent conferences suggestions on how to recruit and work with volunteers and other useful tips to help bring your school and your community closer together Preparing Educators to Communicate and Connect with Families and Communities Patricia Ruggiano Schmidt, 2005-02-01 This book compiles case studies by New York State educators highlighting effective approaches to bridge home and school It aims to prepare teachers to engage families and communities in education offering research based activities and practical strategies Essential for teacher education programs Parents and Schools Anne M. Bauer, Thomas M. Shea, 2003 The challenges of teaching a child who has a disability are many and varied Nothing helps the process more than strong collaboration between the child's teachers and the child's parents. This new book is all about creating that collaboration, maintaining it and using it to help children who have disabilities reach their personal educational potential. The authors take a developmental approach to their subject, focusing on the uniqueness of each family and each child from infancy through the primary grades to middle school, high school and adulthood. Throughout the book, the voices of real parents lend authenticity to the material and the essential role of the family in the education of its children is seen as of paramount importance. This book also addresses current educational trends toward maximum inclusion for all children, children with ethnic, cultural and linguistic differences as well as those with physical and mental disabilities.

For Special Education teachers The First 120 Minutes Dick Dodds, Donna Swiniarski, 1994 When a crisis strikes, the first 120 minutes can determine the public's perceptions of the school system employee group, community college, university or ministry and the image the organization will have long after the situation is under control. This document defines a crisis and the need for crisis management, the result of a crisis that is not managed, the key elements of good crisis management as exemplified by Johnson, the need for communication planning and establishment of credibility before the crisis strikes, elements of a communication plan, measures to take during an actual crisis using the example of a teachers strike and principles of crisis management How to Market Your School Johanna M. Lockhart, 2005-08 Is your school or district facing increased competition, diminishing resources, changing demographics, media scrutiny and declining employee retention? How to Market Your School is a comprehensive guide that provides school administrators with the essential tools to create a positive public image, attract students, qualified personnel and volunteers and build community support through a strategic marketing effort. Author Johanna Lockhart draws on her extensive marketing and public relations experience to cover topics such as School marketing, What it is and why it matters, Developing a marketing strategy, Marketing research and database marketing, Marketing and electronic communication, Media relations, Building community partnerships, Public relations and much more. Although originally intended for public school administrators, How to Market Your School is equally valuable to private and charter schools. It will help principals, assistant principals, business managers and district administrators apply the knowledge and tools used successfully in the private sector to organize, implement and maintain an integrated marketing program to achieve their particular goals. Lockhart presents the fundamentals of integrated marketing in clear and concise terms and uses actual case studies to illustrate each aspect of successful school marketing Proceedings Chicago (Ill.).
