men In a real sense any man may be inside any men But to travel is to leave the inside and draw dangerously near the outside So long as he thought of men in the abstract like naked toiling figures in some classic frieze merely as those who labour and love their children and die he was thinking the fundamental truth about them By going to look at their unfamiliar manners and customs he is inviting them to disguise themselves in fantastic masks and costumes Many modern internationalists talk as if men of different nationalities had only to meet and mix and understand each other In reality that is the moment of supreme danger the moment when they meet We might shiver as at the old euphemism by which a meeting meant a duel Travel ought to combine amusement with instruction but most travellers are so much amused that they refuse to be instructed I do not blame them for being amused it is perfectly natural to be amused at a Dutchman for being Dutch or a Chinaman for being Chinese Where they are wrong is that they take their own amusement seriously They base on it their serious ideas of international instruction It was said that the Englishman takes his pleasures sadly and the pleasure of despising foreigners is one which he takes most sadly of all He comes to scoff and does not remain to pray but rather to excommunicate Hence in international relations there is far too little laughing and far too much sneering But I believe that there is a better way which largely consists of laughter a form of friendship between nations which is actually founded on differences To hint at some such better way is the only excuse of this book
