Muller Brockman's impassioned and sudden appearance on the stage of constructive graphic design in the early 50s at the age of almost 40 gives pause. What biographical developments preceded this energetic statement? What context created the conditions for an abrupt change from a subjective and illustrative view of design to one that was objective and constructive? The answer takes us back to the 30s to the formative days when MB the designer and Swiss Graphic Design were still separate paths.

Altitude Robert Klanten, N. Bourquin, Claudia Mareis, 2006 La présente publication invite le lecteur un survol du graphisme suisse contemporain.

The Prize of Success Jonas Berthod, 2024-04-02 In the small world of Swiss graphic design prizes such as the Swiss Design Awards SDA are followed closely. The winners' works are admired, envied and emulated. The generous prize money allows designers to launch their careers and focus on lesser-paid but critically recognised work. Awards thus play the role of bellwethers of the scene. However, criticisms inevitably arise. Speaking in hushed tones, designers speculate as to why a colleague won over another. Rumours have it that jury members favour their inner circles and exclude competitors. Analysing this universe in detail, Jonas Berthod retraces the recent history of the SDA and the emergence of a new design culture in Switzerland.

Women Graphic Designers Elizabeth Resnick, 2025-10-02 Women are now the largest student body demographic in graphic design programs, yet in the twenty-first century, the professional work of female designers is still underrepresented or ignored in the media and historical canons. Women Graphic Designers features illustrated essays of 42 undervalued and marginalized female graphic designers from diverse global cultures who worked professionally during the 20th century (1900-1999). Each essay critically explores each subject's challenges and alternative approaches when faced with professional roadblocks or personal and family dilemmas. With a broad range of contributors from around the world looking at the work of international graphic designers, this new collection is ideal for use on courses that expand the conversation beyond the traditional canon and look at design history holistically. This significantly important publication will celebrate the contribution women have made to the discipline of graphic design and help establish a more comprehensive, diverse and inclusive design history.

Pathfinder, 2003 As well as showcasing work from young Swiss graphic designers, Pathfinder offers an itinerary through the regions, landscape and culture of a country that has a key place in graphic design history.
