The Ethical Function Of Architecture:

The Ethical Function of Architecture Karsten Harries, 1998-07-31 Can architecture help us find our place and way in today's complex world Can it return individuals to a whole to a world to a community Developing Giedion's claim that contemporary architecture's main task is to interpret a way of life valid for our time philosopher Karsten Harries answers that architecture should serve a common ethos But if architecture is to meet that task it first has to free itself from the dominant formalist approach and get beyond the notion that its purpose is to produce endless variations of the decorated shed In a series of cogent and balanced arguments Harries questions the premises on which architects and theorists have long relied premises which have contributed to architecture's current identity crisis and marginalization He first criticizes the aesthetic approach focusing on the problems of decoration and ornament He then turns to the language of architecture If the main task of architecture is indeed interpretation in just what sense can it be said to speak and what should it be speaking about Expanding upon suggestions made by Martin Heidegger Harries also considers the relationship of building to the idea and meaning of dwelling Architecture Harries observes has a responsibility to community but its ethical function is inevitably also political He concludes by examining these seemingly paradoxical functions

Louis I. Kahn and the Ethical Function of Architecture Jeffrey Kiat Ho, 1997 Heidegger in America Martin Woessner, 2010-12-20 Heidegger in America explores the surprising legacy of his life and thought in the United States of America As a critic of modern life Heidegger often lamented the growing global influence of all things American However it was precisely in America where his thought inspired the work of generations of thinkers not only philosophers but also theologians architects novelists and even pundits As a result the reception and dissemination of Heidegger's philosophical writings transformed the intellectual and cultural history of the United States at a time when American influence was itself transforming the world A case study in the complex and sometimes contradictory process of transnational exchange Heidegger in America recasts the scope and methods of contemporary intellectual and cultural history in the age of globalization challenging what we think we know about Heidegger and American ideas simultaneously Architecture and Civilization, 2022-05-20

The Tender Detail Daniel E. Snyder, 2020-06-25 The Tender Detail tells a story about the repression of sentimentality through architectural ornament The protagonists are Louis H Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright two of the most important architects and designers of ornament in American history Interweaving close readings of their architecture and writings with wide ranging discussions about sexuality gender and philosophy the book explores how both men worked to solve the problem of late nineteenth century ornamentation It suggests that their solutions while widely different were both intimately rooted in the tender emotions of sentimentality Viewing ornament in this way reveals much not only about Sullivan and Wright's artistic intentions but also about the role of affect the value of beauty and the agency and ontology of objects illuminated by personal stories from their respective autobiographies which add a level of human interest unusual in an academic work The Tender Detail is a readable scholarly study which sheds fresh light on Sullivan and Wright's relationship their work and on the nature of ornament itself The Ethics of Architecture Mark Kingwell, 2021 The Ethics of Architecture offers a short and approachable scholarly introduction to a timely question in a world of increasing population density how does one construct habitable spaces that promote social goals such as health happiness environmental friendliness and justice A preface offers specific discussion of architecture during and after the COVID 19 pandemic

Architecture's Appeal Marc J. Neveu, Negin Djavaherian, 2015-02-11 This collection of previously unpublished essays from a diverse range of well known scholars and architects builds on the architectural tradition of phenomenological hermeneutics as developed by Dalibor Vesely and Joseph Rykwert and carried on by David Leatherbarrow Peter Carl and Alberto Perez Gomez Taking an interdisciplinary approach and drawing on ideas from beyond the architectural canon contributors including Kenneth Frampton David Leatherbarrow Juhani Pallasmaa Karsten Harries Steven Holl Indra Kagis McEwen Paul Emmons and Louise Pelletier offer new insights and perspectives on questions such as the following Given the recent fascination with all things digital and novel what is the role of history and theory in contemporary architectural praxis Is authentic meaning possible in a technological environment that is so global and interconnected What is the nature and role of the architect in our shared modern world How can these questions inform a new model of architectural praxis Architecture's Appeal is a thought provoking book which will inspire further scholarly inquiry and act as a basis for discussion in the wider field as well as graduate seminars in architectural theory and history Proceedings of the ACSA Annual Meeting

Taylor, Michael P. Levine, 2012-12-06 Bringing together the reflections of an architectural theorist and a philosopher this book encourages philosophers and architects scholars and designers alike to reconsider what they do as well as what they can do in the face of challenging times It does so by exploring the notion that architecture and design can and possibly should in their own right make for a distinctive form of ethical investigation The book is less concerned with absolutist understandings of the two components of ethics a theory of the good and a theory of the right than with remaining open to multiple relations between ideas about the built environment design practices and the plurality of kinds of human subjects inhabitants individuals and communities accommodated by buildings and urban spaces The built environment contributes to the inculcation of all sorts of values good and bad Thus this book aims to change the way people commonly think about ethics not only in relation to the built environment but to themselves their ways of thinking and modes of behaviour World Architecture, 1997 Ethics and Architecture Tom Elliott Spector, 2000 The Kenyon Review John Crowe Ransom, 2009 Editor winter 1939 autumn 1941 J C Ransom Bernhard Rudofsky Andrea

Ethics in Culture Astrid Erll, Herbert Grabes, Ansgar Nünning, 2008 Alongside the recent cultural turn in the humanities there has been a noticeable return to ethical considerations With regard to literature as well as other media this has rekindled awareness of a tension antagonism or even disparity between ethics and aesthetics This volume of articles takes a more systematic and cross disciplinary approach to the widely mooted ethical turn in literature and other media than has been pursued so far It brings together a wide range of critical perspectives from literary studies media and cultural memory studies and philosophy tracing the complex and sometimes conflicting relationship between ethics and aesthetics in theoretical contexts and individual case studies as diverse as colonial architecture nineteenth century literary histories and postmodern writing and art
