Stockton, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from The Great War Syndicate Etc In the spring of a certain year not far from the close of the nineteenth century when the political relations between the United States and Great Britain became so strained that careful observers on both sides of the Atlantic were forced to the belief that a serious break in these relations might be looked for at any time the fishing schooner Eliza Drum sailed from a port in Maine for the banks of Newfoundland It was in this year that a new system of protection for American fishing vessels had been adopted in Washington Every fleet of these vessels was accompanied by one or more United States cruisers which remained on the fishing grounds not only for the purpose of warning unwary American craft who might approach too near the three mile limit but also to overlook the action of the British naval vessels on the coast and to interfere at least by protest with such seizures of American fishing boats as might appear to be unjust In the opinion of all persons of sober judgment there was nothing in the condition of affairs at this time so dangerous to the peace of the two countries as the presence of these American cruisers in the fishing waters About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
