Las Raras Sarah Moody, 2024-05-30 Premio al Mejor Libro Latin American Studies Association Nineteenth Century Section 2025 Las Raras proposes that the Modernistas advocacy for a writing style they considered feminine helps us to understand why so few and perhaps no women were accepted as active participants in Modernismo Author Sarah Moody studies how particular writers contributed to the idea of a feminine aesthetic and tracks the intellectual networks of Modernismo through periodicals and personal papers such as albums and correspondence Buenos Aires Paris and Montevideo figure prominently in this transatlantic study which reexamines some of the most important period writers in Spanish including Rubén Darío Amado Nervo and Enrique González Carrillo This book also considers the critiques launched by women writers such as Aurora Cárdenas Clorinda Matto de Turner and María Eugenia Vaz Ferreira who experienced Modernista exclusion firsthand deconstructed the Modernista discourse of a modern feminine style and built literary success in alternative terms These writers reoriented the discussion about women in modernity to address women's education professionalization and advocacy for social and civic improvements In this study Modernismo emerges as both a literary style and an intellectual network in which style and sociability are mutually determining and combine to form a system of prestige and validation that excluded women writers

Carlos Monsiváis Linda Egan, 2001-09-01 One of Mexico's foremost social and political chroniclers and its most celebrated cultural critic Carlos Monsiváis has read the pulse of his country over the past half century The author of five collections of literary journalism pieces called crónicas he is perhaps best known for his analytic and often satirical descriptions of Mexico City's popular culture This comprehensive study of Monsiváis's crónicas is the first book to offer an analysis of these works and to place Monsiváis's work within a theoretical framework that recognizes the importance of his vision of Mexican culture Linda Egan examines his ideology in relation to theoretical postures in Latin America the United States and Europe to cast Monsiváis as both a heterodox pioneer and a mainstream spokesman She then explores the poetics of the contemporary chronicle in Mexico reviewing the genre's history and its relation to other narrative forms Finally she focuses on the canonical status of Monsiváis's work devoting a chapter to each of his five principal collections Egan argues that the five books that are the focus of her study tell a story of ever renewing suspense we cannot know the end until Monsiváis is through constructing his literary project Despite this she observes his work between 1970 and 1995 documents important discoveries in his search for causes effects and deconstructions of historical obstacles to Mexico's passage into modernity While anthropologists and historians continue to introduce new paradigms for the study of Mexico's cultural space Egan's book provides a reflexive twist by examining the work of one of the thinkers who first inspired such a critical movement More than an appraisal of Monsiváis it offers a valuable discussion of theoretical issues surrounding the study of the chronicle as it is currently practiced in Mexico It balances theory and criticism to lend new insight into the ties between Mexican society social conscience and literature
