Digital Technology and the Future of Broadcasting John V. Pavlik, 2015-07-16 This volume presents timely discussions on how digital technology is reshaping broadcasting and the media in the United States and around the world. It features contributions from distinguished scholars and young researchers representing work that spans domestic and international issues of technological change and the implications for broadcasting and related media in a global context. Among the many issues covered are: The impact of digital technology on the structure of broadcasting organizations and regulation; The nature of broadcast content or media programming and how it is delivered at home and abroad; Engagement and interaction of the public with broadcasting and social and mobile media; and The reshaping of revenue models for broadcasters and media organizations globally. The first two parts of the volume address research challenges, issues, and advances in global broadcasting; are competitively reviewed research papers which were presented at the BEA2014 Research Symposium. The third part focuses on international perspectives with chapters from broadcasting scholars and paper discussants at the Research Symposium. This section provides reflection on the problems and prospects for research, education, and public policy that arise in this era of rapid and continuing change. As a benchmark of the remarkable changes taking place in today's media environment, the volume sets an agenda for future research on the implications of digital technology for broadcasting and broadcasting education.

Digital Resources for Learning Daniel Churchill, 2017-02-08 This book addresses the theory and practice of using digital resources for contemporary learning and how such resources can be designed, developed, and employed in a variety of learning activities and with various devices. Drawing on insights into learning theory, educational research, and the practical design of digital resources for learning that the author has gained over the past 20 years, the book provides the first classification guide to digital resources for learning and links various types of digital resources for learning to both contemporary curriculum design and learning design models.

Disruptive Leadership Rich Kao, 2025-09-09 Companies worldwide are striving to transform their industries through innovative products and services. Becoming a disruptive organization, however, is easier said than done. Even more difficult is being a company that continually disrupts. Is it possible to discern a code for how companies can achieve this? In this highly readable and engaging book, a disruptive leadership framework is proposed in which caring deeply is placed at the center of the model. Apple is used as the leading example. By turning care into a focal point, a triphasic model is proposed that moves from the personal sphere (individual) to the corporate arena (organizational) and then to the global stage (impact). Nine key factors are identified along this path for how companies can achieve organizational excellence. This second edition updates all the facts, data, and history around Apple since the first edition and calls out how its revolution of care continues to not only validate its success but astound with its seemingly unfettered upside. Its ability to disrupt seems to have no limits, thus challenging business leaders present and future to incorporate the DNA of care as they build and scale businesses. In addition to the previously profiled companies such as Nike IKEA 3M and Starbucks new case studies including Uniqlo Alibaba On Running 7 Eleven and Costco are presented to supplement Apple s story Features A new organizational model is given for interpreting Apple s success Nine principles of organizational excellence are discerned from this new model Promotes caring deeply as a focal point for approaching disruptive leadership New corporate profiles include Uniqlo Alibaba On Running 7 Eleven and Costco Application questions and assignments are included for each chapter making it an ideal training tool for leadership development and personal application
