We Others New Selected Stories Vintage Contemporaries:

We Others Steven Millhauser, 2012-09-04 PEN Faulkner Award Finalist From the Pulitzer Prize winning author the essential stories across three decades that showcase his indomitable imagination Steven Millhauser's fiction has consistently and to dazzling effect dissolved the boundaries between reality and fantasy waking life and dreams the past and the future darkness and light love and lust The stories gathered here unfurl in settings as disparate as nineteenth century Vienna a contemporary Connecticut town the corridors of a monstrous museum and Thomas Edison's laboratory and they are inhabited by a wide ranging cast of characters including a knife thrower and teenage boys ghosts and a cartoon cat and mouse But all of the stories are united in their unfailing power to surprise and enchant From the earliest to the stunning previously unpublished novella length title story in which a man who is dead but not quite gone reaches out to two lonely women Millhauser in this magnificent collection carves out ever more deeply his wondrous place in the American literary canon

What It Used to Be Like Maryann Burk Carver, 2006-07-11 This intimate memoir of youth marriage and literary ambition presents powerful testimony to the dark side of both creativity and working class life Booklist Maryann Burk Carver met Raymond Carver in 1955 when she was fifteen years old and he was seventeen In What It Used to Be Like she recounts a tale of young love and long distance courtship followed quickly by marriage and two small children Over the next twenty five years as Carver's fame grew the family led a nomadic life moving from school to school and teaching post to teaching post In 1972 they settled in Cupertino California where Raymond Carver gave his wife one of his sharpened pencils and asked her to write an account of their history The result is a memoir of a marriage replete with an intimacy of detail that reveals the talents and failings of this larger than life man his complicated relationships and his profound loves and losses What It Used to Be Like brings to light Raymond Carver's lost years and the stories behind his famous works

Conversations with Raymond Carver Raymond Carver, 1990 The twenty five interviews gathered here several available in English for the first time include craft interviews biographical portraits self analyses wide ranging reflections on the current literary scene

White Flights Jess Row, 2019-08-06 A bold incisive look at race and reparative writing in American fiction by the author of Your Face in Mine White Flights is a meditation on whiteness in American fiction and culture from the end of the civil rights movement to the present At the heart of the book Jess Row ties white flight the movement of white Americans into segregated communities whether in suburbs or newly gentrified downtowns to white writers setting their stories in isolated or emotionally insulated landscapes from the mountains of Idaho in Marilynne Robinson's Housekeeping to the claustrophobic households in Jonathan Franzen's The Corrections Row uses brilliant close readings of work from well known writers such as Don DeLillo Annie Dillard Richard Ford and David Foster

Wallace to examine the ways these and other writers have sought imaginative space for themselves at the expense of engaging with race White Flights aims to move fiction to a more inclusive place and Row looks beyond criticism to consider writing as a reparative act What would it mean he asks if writers used fiction to approach each other again Row turns to the work of James Baldwin Dorothy Allison and James Alan McPherson to discuss interracial love in fiction while also examining his own family heritage as a way to interrogate his position A moving and provocative book that includes music film and literature in its arguments White Flights is an essential work of cultural and literary criticism Twayne Companion to Contemporary Literature in English: Ammons-Lurie Richard H.
