County accepts computer bid to count votes, aid jury selection

By BILL CHRISTENSEN
Special Writer

Johnson County voters cast ballots on computerized, automated ballots in 1976. When they did the voting in 1978, they used a ballot with a hole punch and a ballot box. The hole punch was used to punch a hole in the ballot, and the ballot box was used to insert the ballot.

But voters used voting machines, with 17 of the 19 precincts using the machines. The machines were used to count the votes, and the results were reported to the county clerk.

As a result, the county clerk reported the results of the election to the county clerk. The county clerk then reported the results to the county clerk.
