THE UNOFFICIAL GUIDE TO ETHICAL HACKING

ANKIT FADIA

#!/usr/bin/perl
Exploit for CVE-2010-3666
Author: Ankit Fadia
Description: This script exploits a buffer overflow in the
'getenv' function of the 'libc' library.
The overflow is triggered by passing a #             long string to the 'getenv' function.
The string is constructed by concatenating
a large number of 'A's.
The string is then passed to the 'getenv'
function, which causes a buffer overflow.
The overflow is then used to overwrite
the return address of the 'main' function
with the address of the 'system' function.
This causes the program to execute the #             'system' function, which runs the command
specified in the 'CMD' variable.
The command is 'cat /etc/passwd'.
The output of the command is printed to #             the screen.
