

Surface Weather Map Showing Storm System in the Eastern United States

Warm air advection occurs where the wind flows across isobars from higher pressure to lower (warmer) values. Thus, warm air is being transported across a certain location by the horizontal winds. Based on this fact alone, one would expect precipitation at that location to be rising. Cold air advection occurs where the wind flows across the isobars from lower (colder) values to higher (warmer) values. Thus, colder air being transported by the wind to a certain location produces falling temperatures.

Based on wind directions and the isobars pattern on the Figure 2 map, determine the type of air advection (warm or cold) that would be occurring at each station.

3. Warm air advection was occurring at Station _____.

- ☐ A
☐ B
☐ C
☐ D

4. Cold air advection was occurring at Station _____.

- ☐ B
☐ C
☐ D

5. Considering the air mass displacements of wind speed comparisons, pressure associated with weather systems, wind speed of Low can be expected to have _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
☐ cold

6. Meanwhile, where on the west end coastline of Low can be expected to have _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
☐ cold

7. Areas to the east of High should be expected to have _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
☐ cold

8. And while you choose here that rising weather based on the model of a High, areas to the east of High should have _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
☐ cold
