

A WEEDY SOLUTION? CAMPHOR LAUREL

Advantageously, fast-growing woody trees readily establish in cleared areas, shading out grasses and producing fleshy fruits that are attractive to seed dispersing birds.<sup>1</sup>

Camphor Laurel fruits attract rainforest birds (© John Hall)

The rapid expansion of invasive woody has made significant improvements to the connectivity of subtropical rainforest in Australia. This expansion potentially buffers native frugivores against the destruction of their habitat<sup>16</sup>. For example, Lantana thickets have been observed to support as many as 23 species of native birds<sup>17</sup>. At least 9 ecologically important frugivorous birds frequent Camphor Laurel patches, including the rose crowned fruit-dove, topknot pigeon, white headed pigeon, Lewin's honeyeater, figbird and pied currawong<sup>18</sup>.

Camphor Laurel regrowth may have potential to facilitate rainforest recovery when supported by a suitable seed source<sup>19</sup>.

Though clearly compositionally distinct to primary rainforests, this weedy regrowth is not void of conservation value to native species. Studies have reported that high proportions (87%) of endemic rainforest plants recruit in the understory of Camphor Laurel stands<sup>15</sup>. As many as 79% of these native recruits are known to be avian-dispersed<sup>15</sup>.
