

INTRODUCTION

Negotiations between the differing parties in South Africa (SA) in 1992 to 1993 were problematic, since all sides had differing demands and expectations and a peaceful resolution was by no means certain. The negotiations were disrupted by ongoing violence in the country and by some specific episodes which showed how fragile the negotiations actually were.

BODY

De Klerk Speech, February 1990. On the 02 February 1990 F De Klerk addressed the parliament indicating that he will unbanned political organisations such as ANC, PAC and SACP. He also stated he will allow the exiles to return and release political prisoners including Nelson Mandela. This statement shocked most of the white people in the parliament. Indeed, on the 11 February 1990 Nelson Mandela was released from Victor Vorster prison in Cape Town. In March, immediately after Mandela was released, violence broke out in Sebokeng in which demonstrators were protesting against local council rent. Groote Schuur Minute, May 1990. In May 1990 ANC delegation led by Mandela and NP delegation led by De Klerk met at Groote Schuur, De Klerk's residence, in Cape Town. The agreement reached during these negotiations was known as Groote Schuur Minute. Instead of suspending armed struggle, Chris Hani and Ronnie Kasrils leaders of MK, introduced a secret operation called Operation Vulu. The main aim was to prepare themselves for a war in case negotiation fail. In June this operation was discovered and its top leaders were arrested, however the arrested leaders were acquitted and later released.

Sebokeng massacre, June 1990, another major obstacle towards negotiation was the continuing violence in Rand townships. For instance, an armed group of IFP supporters attacked residents at Sebokeng and killed about 30 people. Most of those who were killed were members of ANC. Consequently, Nelson Mandela complained about the involvement of the Third Force, a group of whites who were assisting IFP. Due to this complaint, De Klerk established a commission led by Justice Richard Goldstone to investigate in this incident. Its finding was that it was true that indeed members of Military Intelligence were involved in these killings. Therefore, those who were found guilty were forced to retire and some were expelled from their jobs.

Pretoria Minute, August 1990, in August 1990 ANC and NP held another bilateral talk in Pretoria to speed up the process of negotiations. This led to the signing of an
