Training Manual Chocolate:

Training Manual for Analytical Entomology in the Food Industry John Richard Gorham, 1977 Chocolate Science and Technology Emmanuel Ohene Afoakwa, 2011-08-24 This book provides an overview of the science and technology of chocolate manufacture from cocoa production through the manufacturing processes to the sensory nutrition and health aspects of chocolate consumption. It covers cocoa cultivation and production with special attention paid to cocoa bean composition, genotypic variations in the bean, post-harvest pre-treatments, fermentation and drying processes and the biochemical basis of these operations. The scientific principles behind industrial chocolate manufacture are outlined with detailed explanations of the various stages of chocolate manufacturing including mixing, refining, conching and tempering. Other topics covered include the chemistry of flavour formation and development during cocoa processing and chocolate manufacture, volatile flavour compounds and their characteristics and identification, sensory descriptions and character, and flavour release and perception in chocolate. The nutritional and health benefits of cocoa and chocolate consumption are also addressed. There is a focus throughout on those factors that influence the flavour and quality characteristics of the finished chocolate and that provide scope for process optimization and improvement. The book is designed to be a desk reference for all those engaged in the business of making and using chocolate worldwide: confectionery and chocolate scientists in industry and academia, students and practising food scientists and technologists, nutritionists and other health professionals and libraries of institutions where food science is studied and researched. An overview of the science behind chocolate manufacture covers the whole process from cocoa production through manufacturing to the nutrition and health aspects of chocolate consumption. It focuses on factors that influence chocolate flavour and quality and that provide scope for process optimization and improvement.

Cocoa Production and Processing Technology Emmanuel Ohene Afoakwa, 2014-02-21 One of the largest food commodities exported from the developing countries to the rest of the world, cocoa has gained increasing attention on the global market, raising many questions about its quality, sustainability and traceability. Cocoa Production and Processing Technology presents detailed explanations of the technologies that could be employed to assure sustainable production of high quality and safe cocoa beans for the global confectionery industry. It provides overviews of up-to-date technologies and approaches to modern cocoa production practices, global production and consumption trends as well as principles of cocoa processing and chocolate manufacture. The book covers the origin, history and taxonomy of cocoa and examines the fairtrade and organic cocoa industries and their influence on smallholder farmers. The chapters provide in-depth coverage of cocoa cultivation, harvesting and post-harvest treatments with a focus on cocoa bean composition, genotypic variations and their influence on quality, post-harvest pre-treatments, fermentation techniques, drying, storage and transportation. The author provides details on cocoa fermentation processes as well as the biochemical and microbiological changes involved and how they influence flavour. He also addresses cocoa trading systems, bean selection and quality criteria.

as well as industrial processing of fermented and dried cocoa beans into liquor cake butter and powder The book examines the general principles of chocolate manufacture detailing the various stages of the processes involved the factors that influence the quality characteristics and strategies to avoid post processing quality defects This volume presents innovative techniques for sustainability and traceability in high quality cocoa production and explores new product development with potential for cost reduction as well as improved cocoa bean and chocolate product quality Chocolate, Cocoa and Confectionery: Science and Technology Bernard W. Minifie,1989-08-31 Recognised as the industry standard this definitive guide provides a comprehensive review of chocolate and confectionary production and processing operations The technical and scientific aspects of the various manufacturing procedures are emphasized formulations and recipes are used as needed to supplement explanations and to advance understanding of a particular process Other areas include raw materials emulsifiers replacers and compounds ingredients sweeteners starches and colors applied methods food value packaging and entomology National Association of Corporation Training.
