This paper describes the use of narrative ideas in work with vulnerable children in Southern Africa. How can the lives of children who have experienced significant losses be responded to in ways that are not re-traumatizing and that bring to light children's own skills and knowledge? What sorts of exercises can be used in camps for vulnerable children? How can children be provided with significant experiences that do not separate them from their families, values and cultural norms? This paper describes a creative adaptation of the 'Tree of Life' exercise informed by narrative therapy principles and practices.

Creating Culturally Competent Services for Children and Families Various Authors, 2025-12-18 Understanding someone's cultural context is key to understanding and supporting them as a whole person. How do they view the world? What role does their community play in their lives? How does their culture influence the way they interact with health and social care professionals? Expert authors recognised for their work in cultural competence across the legal, psychological, mental health and social work fields share how to bring their pioneering techniques into your service. Topics range from the pervasive effects of racism to practicalities like ensuring interpreters speak the correct dialect of a language. Each chapter explores how to engage with service users, culture and adopt a flexible approach based in mutual understanding. The frameworks and advice in this guide are proven through successful practice. They offer effective ways to bring cultural competence into your work and support people from every community.

The Tree Climbing Cure Andy Brown, 2022-12-15 Our relationship with trees is a lengthy complex one. Since we first walked the earth we have at various times worshiped them, felled them and even talked to them. For many of us, though, our first memories of interacting with trees will be of climbing them. Exploring how tree climbers have been represented in literature and art in Europe and North America over the ages, The Tree Climbing Cure unpacks the curative value of tree climbing, examining when and why tree climbers climb and what tree climbing can do for and say about the climber's mental health and wellbeing. Bringing together research into poetry, novels and paintings with the science of wellbeing and mental health and engaging with myth, folklore, psychology and storytelling, Tree Climber also examines the close relationship between tree climbing and imagination and questions some longstanding problematic gendered injunctions about women climbing trees. Discussing among others the literary works of Margaret Atwood, Charlotte Brontë, Geoffrey Chaucer, Angela Carter, Kiran Desai and J.R.R. Tolkien as well as work by artists such as Peter Doig, Paula Rego and Goya, this book stands out as an almost encyclopedic examination of cultural representations of this quirky and ultimately restorative pastime.

Narrative Therapies with Children and Their Families Arlene Vetere, Emilia Dowling, 2016-09-02 Narrative Therapies with Children and their Families introduces and develops the principles of narrative approaches to systemic therapeutic work and shows how they can provide a powerful framework for engaging troubled children and their families. Written by eminent and leading clinicians known nationally and internationally for their research and theory development in the field of child and family mental health, the book covers a broad range of difficult and sensitive topics including trauma, abuse and youth offending. It illustrates the wide application of these principles in the context of the particular issues and challenges presented when working with children and families. Since publication of the first edition, the importance of narrative therapy has continued to grow and this new edition provides an updated and revised overview of the field along with three new chapters to keep abreast with developments in child mental health trauma work. This book remains a key text in the field of systemic narrative training and practice. With clinical examples throughout, this practical book will be welcomed by family and systemic therapists and other professionals in the field of child adolescent and family mental health

A Handbook of Visual Methods in Psychology Paula Reavey, 2020-08-23. This comprehensive volume explores the set of theoretical, methodological, ethical and analytical issues that shape the ways in which visual qualitative research is conducted in psychology. Using visual data such as film, making social media analyses, photography and model making, the book uniquely uses visual qualitative methods to broaden our understanding of experience and subjectivity. In recent years, visual research has seen a growing emphasis on the importance of culture in experience-based qualitative methods. Featuring contributors from diverse research backgrounds including narrative psychology, personal construct theory and psychoanalysis, the book examines the potential for visual methods in psychology. In each chapter of the book, the contributors explore and address how a visual approach has contributed to existing social and psychological theory in their line of research. The book provides up-to-date insights into combining methods to create new multi-modal methodologies and analyses these with psychology-specific questions in mind. It covers topics such as sexuality, identity, group processes, child development, forensic psychology, race and gender and would be the ideal companion for those studying or undertaking research in disciplines like psychology, sociology and gender studies.

Narrative Therapy and Older People Rosslyn Offord, Polly Kaiser, Elizabeth Field, 2025-10-21. Healthcare for older people tends to focus on physical limitations and cognitive decline, and the person's own perspective and strengths are often overlooked. Narrative therapy centres a person as the expert in their own story and is particularly effective when combined with an older person's wealth of life experience. It highlights the way their views have been shaped by their cultural and personal contexts, which allows better understanding and communication and improves people's lives. Written by experienced psychologists, group facilitators and service users, this guide explores how to use narrative therapy with older people, including those with dementia or age-related conditions. From Tree of Life facilitation to ways of approaching loss and trauma, each chapter offers advice and proven strategies for practice for individuals, staff teams, groups and communities. This book helps you to adopt a person-centred approach to narrative therapy that helps service users to lead the life they want to live. Where ageism and stigma often overwhelm older people, and those who work with them, narrative therapy brings the focus back onto the person themselves in the context of their history, their family and their community: who are they and what do they have to say?
