SOFTWARE: MONITORING

MONITOR PROJECTS WITH EASE AND CONFIDENCE

Simplified Monitoring for Survey and Construction Professionals

Surveyors looking for a fast entry to deformation monitoring can take advantage of the Monitoring application for the Trimble® Access™ software suite. The Monitoring module guides surveyors through a step-by-step process that speeds up setup, data collection, reporting, and return visits to the same monitoring projects.

This application is ideal for the occasional monitoring job, or for periodic monitoring jobs where a permanent monitoring program is not required.

- Monitoring structures (existing or during construction)
- Monitoring land deformation or movement
- Control surveys

Flexible site setup and definition

Define your monitoring site using the intuitive set up wizard. The flexible target definition enables you to measure, key in, or import previously measured rounds as well as parameters for epoch and displacement tolerances reducing set up time. Set up your monitoring site only once for monitoring multiple points in different sessions.

Automated measurement scheduling and movement warnings

Start your monitoring measurements with any of the standard instrument setup techniques such as resection or on a known point. Monitoring points can be stored automatically or by manually aiming using Autolock™, FineLock™, Long Range FineLock, and DfT modes providing methods for a variety of scenarios.

As measurements are collected, the system will alert you of any movements outside of the specified tolerance - compared with either the first or previous epoch. Displacements and statistics can be viewed during or after the survey.

Output and Reports

With the Monitoring application you can easily analyze your data while in the field. View point displacements for each measurement session and generate time-based displacement reports and scatter plots for trend analysis all in the palm of your hand.

For detailed processing and analysis, export data into specialized software such as Trimble 4D Control™ or Trimble Business Center™.

Streamline Automated Monitoring Setup with T4D Control

Utilize the site setup functionality in Trimble Access Monitoring to prepare targets layout in the field and automatically send this information to T4D Control to start the automated monitoring process. When using the Setup M1 total station controller for automated monitoring, use the Send to Setup M1 to transfer all site setup information.

Key Features

- Time-based auto total station measurements
- Define movement thresholds and generate warnings
- Direct data analysis and reporting in the field
- Site setup for automated monitoring with T4D Control
