Systematic Theology Vol 1 Ethics:

Ethics James Wm. McClendon JR.. James William, Jr. McClendon, 2002-09-01 When it first appeared in 1986 James McClendon's Ethics laid claim to two compelling theological ideas first that a highly distinctive theological perspective characterizes the inheritors of the sixteenth century's radical reformation At the heart of this perspective is what McClendon calls the baptist vision a way of understanding the gospel that emphasizes the church's distinction from the world and its continuity with the church of the New Testament Second that because of its emphasis on the centrality of discipleship this radical reformation outlook insists that theology's first task is to discover and explore the shape of the church's common life as the body of Christ hence McClendon's novel decision to begin the task of writing a systematic theology with a volume on ethics Since its first publication Ethics has been followed by Doctrine 1994 and Witness 2000 The completion of the overall work has brought into sharper focus many of the theological and ethical issues and concerns central to the baptist tradition In this revised edition of Ethics McClendon infuses his claim for the priority of ethics within the theological task with a new urgency born of the fuller more complete definition of the baptist vision that Doctrine and Witness have made possible Ethics is central he reminds us because biblical faith rests on a set of distinctive practices that arise from our placement within a larger Christian story In his revisions McClendon offers a more complete explanation of how the interaction of faithful practices and gospel story give rise to a way of life that is distinctively Christian

Practice What You Preach, Preach What You Practice Ronald Barnes, 2016-11-30 What does it mean to be religious Religious ethical morality is not just a Sunday set aside or a social protocol to conform to peer group expectations nor should religion be used as a refuge of forgiveness for negative actions that do not change It is important to respect the religion of others even if you do not agree with their teachings However without a basic knowledge of other religions there is no basis for evaluation other than hear say and ignorance which are not rational foundations for evaluation. Because the voice of women is diminished by men who devalue the contribution of women or men who attempt to dictate and define what should be the woman's role and contribution. As a result the world lacks the moral input of women who are considered the moral exemplar for humanity even by many male religious leaders.

Augustinian and Ecclesial Christian Ethics D. Stephen Long, 2018-08-15 What is the relationship between the command to love one's enemies and the use of violence and/or other coercive political means? This work examines this question by comparing and contrasting two important contemporary approaches to Christian ethics: neo-Augustinian and the ecclesial or neo-Anabaptist. It traces the complicated conversation that has taken place since John Howard Yoder took on Reinhold Niebuhr's interpretation of the Anabaptists in the 1940s. It consists of three parts. The first part traces the development of the Augustinian Niebuhrian approach to ethics from Niebuhr through those who have advanced his work, including Paul Ramsey, Timothy Jackson, Charles Mathewes, Eric Gregory, and Jennifer Herdt. It also examines the Augustinian ethics of Oliver O'Donovan, John Milbank, and Nicholas Wolterstorff. Along with tracing the Augustinian approach and its trajectories through agapism, theology, and the interpretation of Augustine, it identifies fifteen criticisms that this approach brings against the neo-Anabaptists. The second part traces the origin of the ecclesial or neo-Anabaptist approach and then examines its relationship to and criticism of agapism. What theological doctrines are central and its interpretation of Augustine? Its purpose is primarily constructive by explaining the role that ecclesiology, Christology, and eschatology have among the neo-Anabaptists. The third part addresses the criticisms levied by Augustinians against the neo-Anabaptists by drawing on the constructive theology in the second part. It intends to show where the Augustinian critics are correct where they have missed key theological teachings and where they misrepresent. It also assesses the summons to the nationalist project the Augustinians put to the neo-Anabaptists. If this work is successful, this third part will not be defensive. It will instead illuminate the reasons for the criticisms and suggest means by which the conversation that began between Yoder and Niebuhr can continue and possibly bear fruit for theological ethics in both its ecclesial and nationalist projects for generations to come.

Scripture, Tradition, and Reason in Christian Ethics Bharat Ranganathan, Derek Alan Woodard-Lehman, 2019-09-24 How should we understand the relationship between Christian ethics and religious ethics? Among comparative ethnographic and normative methodologies, between confessional and non-confessional orientations, or between theology and philosophy? This volume brings together emerging religious ethicists to engage the normative dimensions of Christian ethics. Focusing on scripture, tradition, and reason, the contributors to this volume argue for a vision of Christian ethics as religious ethics. Toward this end, they engage with scripture interpretation and religious practice, examine the putative divide between reason and tradition, autonomy and heteronomy, and offer proposals about the normative characterization of conceptual and practical issues in contemporary religious ethics. Collectively, the volume engages Christian thought to make an argument for the continuing relevance of normative methodologies in contemporary religious and theological ethics Jürgen Moltmann's Ethics of Hope Dr Timothy Harvie,2013-05-28 This book develops a thorough account of the sphere of human moral action in sustained dialogue with Jürgen Moltmann. By examining God's role as promise-giver particularly in the Christian understanding of resurrection this work describes the occupancy of both history and space in moral terms. This leads to an understanding of Jesus' description of the kingdom of God to feature prominently in describing both the possibility and content of human moral action. By offering an account of each of the main doctrines found in Moltmann's corpus the role of the future, the Trinity, the Holy Spirit and anthropology this book locates how each contributes to the understanding of ethics from a Christian perspective and subsequently applies these findings to the contemporary issue of poverty and global economics

John Webster's Vision of Moral Agency W. Jeremy Jones,2025-05-15 This book explores John Webster's contribution to one of the most important and contested topics in Christian theology the relationship between divine and human agency. By examining the theme of moral ontology in Webster's constructive dogmatics this work sheds light on his contribution to this crucial subject. Jones achieves this through close study of Webster texts ranging from his early, middle and late periods. He reveals that Webster's moral ontology is not only a major theme in his thought but is among his most significant contributions to contemporary systematic and moral theology. As the first book length study of a central theme in Webster's ethics this text will be of interest to Webster scholars and those teaching courses in late modern systematic theology and theological ethics

Convictions, Conflict, and Moral Reasoning David J. McMillan,2021-12-14 The primary focus of this volume is to bring to the fore the contribution of McClendon and Smith's work on convictions and the application of that work in helping understand the processes of moral reasoning in the context of conflict. Both were indebted to Zuurdeeg and their concept was incorporated in models of moral reasoning by Baptist scholars Glen Stassen and Parush Parushev. The usefulness of the concept is critically evaluated. The volume concludes with a case study on the conflict in Northern Ireland including the role of religion and the key issues raised in the referendum on the Belfast Agreement in 1998. It includes an examination of the contribution of four Christian groups in Northern Ireland who publicly engaged in this six week period of intense and passionate debate on the Agreement and the difficult issues it addressed as the focus for examining and testing the application of the model of moral reasoning. On the basis of the case study is demonstrated that the concept of convictions can prove to be a helpful means of getting to the heart of what drives moral reasoning in contexts of conflict. The purpose of this book is to issue a call to engage with critique and consider the importance and application of a much undervalued methodological approach to discerning the convictions that are the primary influencers of thought and action
