

Weather Makes a Climate

Weather is the state of the air at a certain time and at a certain place. Conditions may be clear, cloudy, fair, rainy, humid, cold, windy, etc. The type of weather that exists from day to day depends on what kind of air masses are moving above.

Different places in the world have different kinds of weather for extended time periods. These differences make weather zones called climates. Climates vary according to their latitudes and altitudes and also are affected by the same factors as weather, but may be thought of as localized. For the most part climate zones circle the earth in belts. Use the following map to answer the questions below.

1. What climate zones circle the northern and southern portions of the world? _____
2. In what type of climate do you live? _____ Circle all the climates in the world that are the same as yours.
3. How many climates does Australia have? _____ What are they? _____
4. Which continents have deserts? _____
5. Draw the equator on your map. What climate(s) appear along the equator? _____
6. Which continent has only one climate? _____
7. What will the amount of sunlight and rainfall determine in different climates? _____

Underline the following words if they are weather words. Circle them if they are climate words.

temperate zone

Jha, Zuzana Stanton-Geddes, 2013-04-10 Disaster risk management is essential in the fight against poverty Disasters can in an instant wipe out decades of hard fought poverty reduction and development gains and push countless households into poverty Disasters disproportionately affect the poor

Vulnerable and marginalized groups including women children the elderly and people with disabilities are at particular risk East Asia and the Pacific is the most disaster stricken region in the world suffering from small recurrent as well as rare high impact events East Asia is rapidly urbanizing and cities are becoming disaster hotspots Unplanned or poorly planned urbanization which puts more people and assets in harm s way is the single largest driver of disaster risk There is deep uncertainty about future disaster and climate risks challenging our ability to adapt to new developments and changing the physical and natural environment Decision makers can make a significant difference by effectively managing disaster risk and building resilience With education and communication preparedness and investments urbanization can be channeled as a tremendous positive force for development By decreasing disaster exposure and vulnerability through systematic assessments and communication of risks better land use planning and many other practical measures the impacts of natural hazards can be reduced significantly At the same time it is necessary to recognize that the risks of disasters cannot be entirely eliminated and countries need to plan for failure by considering different scenarios especially within complex systems and networks Preventive investments in risk reduction and emergency preparedness can be extremely cost effective and can greatly reduce the impact of natural hazards Governments can prioritize actions based on informed decisions about the level of risk to reduce the risks from disasters Public investments such as early warning systems retrofitting of critical infrastructure at risk and mainstreaming systematic risk assessments into relevant public investment planning processes can help to reduce poverty and promote sustainable economic growth The World Bank supports countries around the world in mainstreaming a comprehensive and integrated approach to disaster risk management into development The World Bank provides analytical and advisory services helps to build climate and disaster resilience into core investments across sectors and offers unique financial solutions to better manage the contingent fiscal risks from disasters
