Surrender How British Industry Gave Up The Ghost 1952 2012:

Surrender Nicholas Comfort, 2012-02-23 British industry at the start of the New Elizabethan Age was a world leader. The first British jet airliner was taking to the skies the first nuclear power station was under construction at Calder Hall and British firms were pioneering the computer. Our shipyards reigned almost supreme and from Britain's factories came cars lorries buses heavy machinery aircraft and locomotives exported all over the world. Sixty years on many of these industries and millions of jobs have disappeared while competitors have flourished. Much of what remains is under foreign ownership. Britain has lost many export markets and essential goods have to be imported. How did all this happen? Britain's loss of competitiveness has traditionally been blamed on outdated working practices failure to invest and modernise poor management, bloody minded unions, the loss of Empire and the ability of post war Germany and Japan to rebuild from scratch. All this is true but the picture is far more complex. The role of Whitehall and successive governments, Britain's relationship with Europe, corporate greed, misjudgement and even suicide and sheer bad luck all play a part. In Surrender Nicholas Comfort revisits the past six decades and identifies some of the factors behind the greatest mass extinction since the dinosaurs.

"Art in the North of England, 1979?008" Gabriel N. Gee, 2017-07-05 Based on rare archival material and numerous interviews with practitioners, Art in the North of England 1979-2008 analyses the relation between political and economic changes stemming from the 1980s and artistic developments in the principal cities of the North of England in the late 20th century. Looking in particular at the art scenes of Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Sheffield and Newcastle, Gabriel Gee unveils a set of powerful aesthetic reactions to industrial change and urban reconstruction during this period on the part of artists including John Davies, Pete Clarke, the Amber collective, Richard Wilson, Karen Watson, Nick Crowe, Ian Rawlinson, John Kippin and the contribution of organisations such as Projects UK, Locus East Street Arts, the Henry Moore Sculpture Trust and the Bluecoat Gallery in Liverpool. While the geographical focus of this study is highly specific, a key concern throughout is the relationship between regional, national and international artistic practices and identities. Of interest to all scholars and students concerned with the developments of British art in the second half of the 20th century, the study is also of direct pertinence to observers of global narratives which are here described and analysed through the concept of trans-industriality.

How Growth Really Happens Michael Best, 2021-12-07 Achieving economic growth is one of today's key challenges. In this groundbreaking book, Michael Best argues that to understand how successful growth happens, we need an economic framework that focuses on production, governance and skills. This production centric framework is the culmination of three simultaneous journeys. The first has been Best's visits to hundreds of factories worldwide, starting early as the son of a labor organiser and continuing through his work as an academic and industrial consultant. The second is a survey of two hundred years of economic thought from Babbage to Krugman, with stops along the way for Marx, Marshall, Young, Penrose, Richardson, Schumpeter, Kuznets, Abramovitz, Keynes and Jacobs. The third is a tour of historical episodes of successful and failed transformations focusing sharply on three core elements the production system business organisation and skill formation and their interconnections Best makes the case that government should create the institutional infrastructures needed to support these elements and their interconnections rather than subsidise individual enterprises

The UK Regional-National

Economic Problem Philip McCann,2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain s regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK s economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government

20 Things That Would Make the News Better Roger Mosey,2022-06-21 A brilliant A to Z for the modern newsroom Jeremy Vine A must read Julie Etchingham Highly recommended reading Justin Webb We are at a defining point in the history of news Following a surge of fake news clickbait and conspiracy theories the 2020s have ushered in a welter of existential threats for public service broadcasting So where do we go from here Former Today editor and head of BBC television news Roger Mosey thinks public service broadcasters must buck the trends and in this incisive book he offers twenty core ways in which the news can save itself by getting smarter sharper more diverse more nuanced and less exposed to pummelling by politicians Mosey sees two possible futures one in which the incitements of populist demagogues and the passions of social media are ever dominant or one where we fight hard to retain media that has an interest in the public good and preserves truth fairness and evidence based judgements From one of British broadcasting s most experienced voices comes the definitive exploration of Britain s news output and what must change if we are to avoid a future of uninspiring news uninformed decision making and accountability dodging politicians

Visual Culture of Post-Industrial Europe

Frances Guerin,Magda Szczesniak,2025-10-01 Visual Culture of Post Industrial Europe investigates visual cultural projects in Europe from the 1970s onwards in response to industrial closures resultant unemployment diminished social services and shattered identities Typically art and visual cultural creations at one time thriving European heartlands strive to make the industrial past visible negotiable and re imaginable Authors discuss varied and multiple types of art and visual culture that remember the sometimes invisible past create community in the face of social disintegration and navigate the dissonance between past and present material reality They also examine art and visual objects at post industrial European sites for their aesthetic historical and sociological role within official and unofficial government and community regeneration and re vitalisation efforts Sites range from former coal and steel plants in Duisburg through shipyards and harbours of Gdansk and Hamburg a Moscow paper factory and textile factories in Albania to still functioning Croatian metalworks Voices of Guinness Tim Strangleman,2019-05-02 Voices of Guinness tells the story of work in the twentieth and early twenty first centuries through the life of one plant the former Guinness brewery at Park Royal West London It reflects on questions of the meaning of work industrial citizenship identity loss deindustrialization and change through powerful oral histories and a wealth of archival and photographic materials Surrender N. A. Comfort,2012-12-10 British factories are no longer the hive of production seen 60 years ago Instead our British household names thrive under foreign ownership and most of our export markets have been lost Nicholas Comfort provides an exacting account of Britain s industrial problems and shows how we might rectify these ills British Industry Confederation of British Industry,1974
