Surfing and Sustainability Gregory Borne, 2018-07-04 Surfing and Sustainability presents a new way of understanding the impact of surfing on the environment society and the economy providing important insights into the field of sustainability and arguing that the activity of surfing offers a unique opportunity to explore the ambiguity of sustainability The book contextualises surfing within current debates on sustainability and applies these debates to an innovative theoretical framework drawn from elements of a risk society and sociotechnical transitions The book discusses the capacity of surfing to influence behaviour both at an individual and organisational level exploring sustainability from a range of perspectives including industry the charity sector media and celebrity culture Featuring a range of international case studies it analyses the greening of the surf industry through topics such as ECOBOARD surfboard manufacturing business innovation and branding environmental activism information technology and surf forecasting as well as the expansion of artificial wave technology The book also considers the future directions of surfing and how the inclusion of surfing in the 2020 Olympic Games will impact sustainability debates This is important reading for academics and scholars as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students working and studying in sports studies sociology geography economics psychology marine science coastal management and economics It is also a valuable resource for practitioners across the globe Towards Coastal Resilience and Sustainability C. Patrick Heidkamp, John Morrissey, 2018-09-28 Coastal zones represent a frontline in the battle for sustainability as coastal communities face unprecedented economic challenges Coastal ecosystems are subject to overuse loss of resilience and increased vulnerability This book aims to interrogate the multi scalar complexities in creating a more sustainable coastal zone Sustainability transitions are geographical processes which happen in situated particular places However much contemporary discussion of transition is either aspatial or based on implicit assumptions about spatial homogeneity This book addresses these limitations through an examination of socio technological transitions with an explicitly spatial focus in the context of the coastal zone The book begins by focusing on theoretical understandings of transition processes specific to the coastal zone and includes detailed empirical case studies The second half of the book appraises governance initiatives in coastal zones and their efficacy The authors conclude with an implicit theme of social and environmental justice in coastal sustainability transitions Research will be of interest to practitioners academics and decision makers active in the sphere of coastal sustainability The multi disciplinary nature encourages accessibility for individuals working in the fields of Economic Geography Regional Development Public Policy and Planning Environmental Studies Social Geography and Sociology

Sustainable Surfing Gregory Borne, Jess Ponting, 2017-03-16 Whilst being an ambiguous and contested concept sustainability has become one of the twenty first century s most pervasive ideas as humanity s increasing impact on the environment as well as increasing social and economic inequalities have local and global consequences Surfing is a globally recognised cultural phenomenon whose unique connection with nature and rapid expansion into a multibillion pound industry offers exciting synergies for exploring various dimensions of sustainability This book is the first to bring together the world s foremost experts on the themes of sustainability and surfing Drawing upon cutting edge theory and research this book offers multidisciplinary perspectives and methodological approaches on the social environmental and economic components of sustainable surfing Contributions provide unique discussions that bridge the gap between theory and practice exploring topics such as sustainable surf tourism surf econometrics surf activism surfing governance the surfing industry and technological advancements Each chapter produces in depth insights to provide foundational insights of the relationship between sustainability and surfing This book will appeal to multiple audiences in different disciplines and sectors Practitioners will benefit from the insights presented in this volume while both undergraduate and postgraduate students will find this volume an invaluable companion including those working in geography environmental studies sport sciences and leisure and tourism studies

Waves of Belonging Lydia Heberling, David Kamper, Jess Ponting, 2025-04-08 Showcases surfing as a site of social belonging and power formation The surf zone the place between ocean and shore offers a powerful space to reflect on the dynamic contemporary politics of our worlds Surfing always occurs on Indigenous lands and centering Indigeneity in surfing studies both recognizes this fundamental fact and creates a different starting point for connecting surfing storytelling power and relationships In Waves of Belonging Lydia Heberling David Kamper and Jess Ponting gather essays by scholars and practitioners that grapple with power identity and belonging while remaining grounded in a sense of hope and futurity Contributors explore how Black Indigenous Latinx queer and trans and female identifying communities transform surfing culture into possibilities for new imagined relations The essays also interrogate the implications of the COVID 19 pandemic and twenty first century racial protest movements as they manifest in surfing communities geographies and cultures across the world Throughout the volume surfing emerges as a method for decolonizing righting historical wrongs and restoring relationship with lands and waters and as a praxis for language learning Original and timely Waves of Belonging challenges the histories of exclusivity associated with surfing and demonstrates how Black Indigenous and LGBTQ people have drawn on surfing s counterculture reputation to construct new spaces of hope and community Just Transitions Mark Swilling,Eve Annecke,2012-01-10 Current economic growth strategies are rapidly depleting natural resources and eco systems Just Transitions provides a comprehensive overview of these global challenges from a global South perspective How do developing countries eradicate poverty via economic development while encountering the consequences of global warming and dwindling supplies of clean water productive soils cheap oil minerals and other resources This book considers a just transition which reconciles the sustainable use of natural resources with a pervasive commitment to sufficiency where over consumers are satisfied with less so that under consumers can secure enough Case studies drawn from Africa detail the challenges but they are set in the context of global trends The authors conclude with their experience of building a community that aspires to live sustainably The Transition to Sustainable Living and Practice Liam Leonard,John Barry,2009-12-21 Offers a series of insights into real alternatives to the economic malaise with an examination of key themes such as transition towns traditional villages new green financial concepts the sustainable utopia sustainability and activism ecofeminism green protectionism intentional communities and a green philosophy of money

The Age of Sustainability Mark Swilling,2019-11-06 With transitions to more sustainable ways of living already underway this book examines how we understand the underlying dynamics of the transitions that are unfolding Without this understanding we enter the future in a state of informed bewilderment Every day we are bombarded by reports about ecosystem breakdown social conflict economic stagnation and a crisis of identity There is mounting evidence that deeper transitions are underway that suggest we may be entering another period of great transformation equal in significance to the agricultural revolution some 13 000 years ago or the Industrial Revolution 250 years ago This book helps readers make sense of our global crisis and the dynamics of transition that could result in a shift from the industrial epoch that we live in now to a more sustainable and equitable age The global renewable energy transition that is already underway holds the key to the wider just transition However the evolutionary potential of the present also manifests in the mushrooming of ecocultures new urban visions sustainability oriented developmental states and new ways of learning and researching Shedding light on the highly complex challenge of a sustainable and just transition this book is essential reading for anyone concerned with establishing a more sustainable and equitable world Ultimately this is a book about hope but without easy answers

Transitions to Sustainable Development John Grin,2010 The Ocean of Tomorrow Phoebe Koundouri,2021-01-31 As a response to the climate crisis and its effect on marine ecosystems and coastal populations this book proposes concrete science driven solutions at establishing transformation pathways towards Sustainable Blue Growth that are supported by technically and socially innovative innovations This book proposes investment options and management solutions that have the potential of making our seas and oceans resilient to crises climate financial health by laying the foundations for a green blue circular economy that is anchored in science driven solutions and geared toward public well being Now is the time to usher in systemic economic change and the good news is that we have our blueprint it s the combination of UN Agenda 2030 17 SDG and European Commission s European Green Deal There is no doubt that the Earth s survival will depend on the protection and sustainable management of our seas and oceans and the resources they provide This is recognized by the Joint Communication on International Ocean Governance which is an integral part of the EU s response to the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in particular to the targets set out by Sustainable Development Goal 14 SDG 14 to conserve and sustainably use the oceans seas and marine resources The analytical framework and science driven concrete management solutions proposed in this book can accelerate the transition to a sustainable management of our seas and oceans by turning the current challenges into opportunities for sustainable economic growth which is both environmentally resilient and leaves no one behind Standing up for a Sustainable World Claude Henry, Johan Rockström, Nicholas Stern, 2020-12-25 The world has witnessed extraordinary economic growth poverty reduction and increased life expectancy and population since the end of WWII but it has occurred at the expense of undermining life support systems on Earth and subjecting future generations to the real risk of destabilising the planet This timely book exposes and explores this colossal environmental cost and the dangerous position the world is now in Standing up for a Sustainable World is written by and about key individuals who have not only understood the threats to our planet but also become witness to them and confronted them Our Common Journey ,1999 Saving Ourselves Yacine Belhaj-bouabdallah, 2016-10-13 Sustainability is going to be one of the most important issues of the coming decades For the first time institutions at all levels public and private national and international are teaming up to combat climate change and to promote more sustainable societies In this book Yacine Belhaj Bouabdallah interviews heads of states politicians religious leaders leading academics diplomats CEOs and heads of NGOs to make the challenges and solutions facing us more understandable to everyone Covering issues such preserving biodiversity improving our food systems building sustainable cities and promoting good governance Saving Ourselves aims to show that though we are facing some unprecedented challenges we are also at a critical point in time to take advantage of all the opportunities sustainable development provides Through interviews with 90 world leaders this book sheds light on the different arguments presented in the fight to save our planet Reading these interviews with the world s top decision makers and experts on sustainable development and global warming will make you have your tail in the air urging action to save the planet Prof Rick van der Ploeg Professor of Economics at the University of Oxford An impressive list of contributors provide thought provoking answers to a set of well chosen questions covering many different aspects of sustainability Prof Richard Green Alan and Sabine Howard Professor of Sustainable Energy Business at the Imperial College Business School Thriving Beyond Sustainability Andres R.
