

THE LINDBERGH BABY KIDNAPPING

IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Judith Edwards

Charles Lindbergh said, "Anne, they've stolen our baby!" This terrible discovery was the beginning of a kidnapping case that would occupy the minds and imaginations of all America—and most of the rest of the world—for the next four years.

The absolute fact that Charles Lindbergh, Jr., had disappeared was just about the only absolute fact that could be proven in those four years.

The Lindbergh Baby Kidnapping In American History

Nietsnie Trebla

The Lindbergh Baby Kidnapping In American History:

The Lindbergh Baby Kidnapping in American History Judith Edwards,2000 Examines the famous kidnapping of aviator Charles Lindbergh s baby describing the background of the boy s father the circumstances of the crime and the capture and trial of the alleged kidnapper The Lindbergh Baby Kidnapping Charles River Charles River Editors,2015-11-10 Includes pictures Includes accounts of the crime and trial Includes online resources and a bibliography for further reading Includes a table of contents I am writing this literally within the shadow of the electric chair For upward to fourteen months I have been confined in the cell nearest to the execution chamber in the New Jersey penitentiary The courts of New Jersey have now said that I shall die on the night of April 3 and that I shall die in the chair that is just beyond the door that faces me and has faced me every waking hour of my life these past fourteen months The courts have said that on the night of April 3 I shall be prepared to leave the cell which has been my home walk through the door which has been facing me these weary months tread the few steps that lead from that door to the electric chair that on that night I shall be led out on a walk from which I shall never return Bruno Richard Hauptmann Amelia Earhart once noted In my life I had come to realize that when things were going very well indeed it was just the time to anticipate trouble And so it would be with America s other famous aviator Charles Lindbergh had spent the first 30 years of his life escaping multiple plane crashes becoming a hero across the world and starting a family but his luck ran out in an awful way in March of 1932 Tragically the other major life event associated with Charles Lindbergh besides his historic transatlantic flight was the crime of the century On March 1 1932 20 month old Charles Jr was kidnapped right out of his crib from the family s home in rural East Amwell New Jersey and for 10 long weeks the nation hoped and prayed in chorus with the distraught parents for his safe return Both Charles and his pregnant wife Anne made frequent public pleas for their son s safe return while ransom negotiations took place between a self identified kidnapper and Dr John F Condon a volunteer intermediary On April 2 the Lindbergh family paid a ransom of 50 000 in exchange for information about the child s whereabouts but the information was false The mystery continued until May 12 when a passing trucker found the corpse of a dead toddler by chance in the woods outside of Mount Rose New Jersey Through careful investigation the police were able to arrest Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the crime about 30 months later after they tracked some of the money paid through the ransom to a gas station in Manhattan Hauptmann still had more than 13 000 of the ransom hidden in his garage when authorities closed in Following his six week long trial in for kidnapping and murder in early 1935 the jury found him guilty on all counts and Judge Thomas Trenchard sentenced him to death by electrocution which was carried out on April 3 1936 at Trenton State Penitentiary Unfortunately the kidnapping of his son became more than just a personal matter for Charles Lindbergh over the next several years it evolved in his mind to a dislike of America in general It is almost as if unable to accept the role that his personal popularity and fame played in the tragedy Lindbergh chose instead to blame those who made him famous and popular In an extremely emotional interview with his friend reporter Lauren Lyman he said We Americans are a primitive people We do not have discipline Our moral standards are low It shows up in the private lives of people we know their drinking and behavior with women It shows in the newspapers the morbid curiosity over crimes and murder trials Americans seem to have little respect for law or the rights of others In a perfect world or even simply one not on the brink of war his remarks might have been forgotten or at the very least heard with a sympathetic ear as the rantings of a grieving father However they would be quoted again and again in future years coming to epitomize the world s view of Lindbergh s politics and values
