An Analysis of Homi K. Bhabha's The Location of Culture Stephen Fay, Liam

Haydon, 2017-07-05 Homi K Bhabha's 1994 The Location of Culture is one of the founding texts of the branch of literary theory called postcolonialism While postcolonialism has many strands at its heart lies the question of interpreting and understanding encounters between the western colonial powers and the nations across the globe that they colonized Colonization was not just an economic military or political process but one that radically affected culture and identity across the world It is a field in which interpretation comes to the fore and much of its force depends on addressing the complex legacy of colonial encounters by careful sustained attention to the meaning of the traces that they left on colonized cultures What Bhabha's writing like so much postcolonial thought shows is that the arts of clarification and definition that underpin good interpretation are rarely the same as simplification Indeed good interpretative clarification is often about pointing out and dividing the different kinds of complexity at play in a single process or term For Bhabha the object is identity itself as expressed in the ideas colonial powers had about themselves In his interpretation what at first seems to be the coherent set of ideas behind colonialism soon breaks down into a complex mass of shifting stances yielding something much closer to postcolonial thought than a first glance at his sometimes dauntingly complex suggests

Constructing Identities Antonio

Medina-Rivera, Lee Wilberschied, 2013 The basic concern of border studies is to examine and analyze interactions that occur when two groups come into contact with one another Acculturation and globalization are at the heart of border studies and cultural studies scholars try to describe the possible interactions in terms of conflicts and resolutions that become the result of those possible encounters The present book is a peer reviewed selection of papers presented during the IV Crossing Over Symposium at Cleveland State University held in October 2011 and it is a follow up to our discussion on border studies The main focus of this volume is historical inter national gender and racial borders and the implications that all of them have in the construction of an identity

The Nation on Screen Enric Castelló, Alexander Dhoest, Hugh O'Donnell, 2009

oe But we can still rise now runs a line of Scotland TM's unofficial national anthem Flower of Scotland oe and be the nation again who defeated the English King Edward II in 1314 at the Battle of Bannockburn These short lines tell us much about the concept of the nation Firstly the pronoun of the nation is oewe Secondly nationhood remains aspirational for some while it is entirely taken for granted for others Thirdly nations often trace their origins back to an implausibly dim and distant past Finally it points to the fundamentally discursive nature of the nation the nation appears not as something which simply is but as something which can be called into existence through talk official documents official and unofficial national anthems ceremonies and parades monuments and statuary press coverage and increasingly television This book which arose out of a conference held in Tarragona in 2007 focuses on the complex discourses of the nation to be found in the television systems of twelve different countries examining how these circulate in fiction in news and documentary including re enactment formats and in entertainment programmes adverts and the coverage of large scale sporting events The nation which emerges is everywhere and nowhere talked about endlessly but never finally grasped repeatedly staged and re enacted but lacking a foundational script In short it is a site of struggle The stakes are high since the nation when mobilised is a force to be reckoned with and the on going attempts to define it are many varied and often highly creative This book details many such events from the high drama of war reporting to the self mocking irony of ten second commercial spots Learning to be Tibetan Sarah Hofstra,2007 In the Eye of the Hurricane Jill M. Gaeta,2008 This 'self' which is Not One Natalie Edwards,Christopher Hogarth,2010 The oeSelf Which is Not One Women TM s Life Writing in French assembles articles on women TM s life writing from diverse areas of the Francophone world It is comprised of nine chapters that discuss female writers from North Africa Sub Saharan Africa the Caribbean and Europe in addition to French writers The idea of the self is currently attracting widespread interest in academia most notably in the arts and humanities The development of postmodernism supposes a fragmented oesubject formed from the network of available discourses rather than a stable and coherent self Jacques Derrida for example wrote that there is no longer any such things as a oefull subject and Julia Kristeva now insists that the individual is a oesubject in process The growing importance of psychoanalytic theory particular in French studies has also impacted upon this development The basic tenet of psychoanalytic theory is that the individual is formed of a duality the conscious and unconscious parts of the self which prevent the individual from ever fully knowing her himself and which thus insists upon a plural incomplete self Developments in the field of postcolonial studies have also made us aware of different ways of approaching the self in different parts of the world and eroded the idea of a stable conscious and complete self As scholars examine these new ways of approaching the self autobiography has been the subject of renewed interest Several academic books have appeared in recent years that study the ways in which autobiographers represent the self as incomplete evolving and elusive In particular a number of books have appeared on the subject of women TM s autobiography and female subjectivity such as works by Sidonie Smith Julia Watson and Nancy Miller and several volumes interrogate postcolonial women TM s autobiography such as texts by Fran oise Lionnet Gayatri Spivak Carole Boyce Davies and Chandra Mohanty Our volume unites these strands of criticism by examining ways that female autobiographies write the self as a fragmented plural construct across the Francophone world This will be the first book length study of this important development This volume will be of interest primarily to students and scholars working in the areas of life writing French and Francophone studies postcolonial studies and gender studies The volume contributes to multiple areas that are currently garnering substantial interest in academe postcolonial studies Francophone studies gender studies and women TM s writing By comparing works from across the Francophone world our volume takes a global approach to the genre of autobiography and its inflections by women writers The oeSelf That is Not One in Women TM s Autobiography in French therefore represents a timely intervention in several interlinking academic fields and will thus garner substantial interest

Performing America Abroad Leopold Lippert,2018 What happens to America when it does not coincide with the geographical and institutional boundaries of the U S nation state What does America mean when it is performed abroad and circulates among populations and publics outside U S national contexts Performing America Abroad explores an unlikely American studies archive contemporary cultural performances in Austria and Germany which refer to the American cultural imaginary but enact it with a transnational difference The book discusses the ambivalent cultural politics of these enactments in the context of neoliberal capitalism specifically it looks at several cross racial performances of Indianness on various Austrian stages it examines queer political demonstrators on Vienna s central Ringstrasse who celebrate the legacy of the 1969 New York Stonewall riots and it discusses the Americanness of a series of theatrical adaptations of Arthur Miller s 1949 play Death of a Salesman in Germany and Austria

Terranglian Territories Susanne Hagemann,2000 The present volume focusses on regional and national aspects of literatures in English and in particular on the literatures of Scotland England and Ireland in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Other parts of Terranglia from Wales to the United States and from Australia to Nigeria are covered as well Approaches oriented towards comparison intertextuality and translation enable the inclusion of literatures in languages other than English Gender is a central area of interest as is postcolonialism The volume as a whole illustrates the large variety of ways in which territoriality can be constructed and theorized
