Lost Homelands Audrey Goodman,2010-11-15

Before the 1930s landscapes of the American Southwest represented the migrant s dream of a stable and bountiful homeland Around the time of the Great Depression however the Southwest suddenly became integrated into a much larger economic and cultural system Audrey Goodman examines how since that time these southwestern landscapes have come to reveal the resulting fragmentation of identity and community Through analyzing a variety of texts and images Goodman illuminates the ways that modern forces such as militarization environmental degradation internal migration and an increased border patrol presence have shattered the perception of a secure homeland in the Southwest The deceptive natural beauty of the Southwest deserts shields a dark history of trauma and decimation that has remained as a shadow on the region's psyche The first to really synthesize such wide ranging material about the effects of the atomic age in the Southwest Goodman realizes the value of combined visual and verbal art and uses it to put forth her own original ideas about reconstructing a new sense of homeland Lost Homelands reminds us of the adversity and dislocation suffered by people of the Southwest by looking at the ways that artists photographers filmmakers and writers have grappled with these problems for decades In assessing the ruination of the region however Goodman argues that those same artists and writers have begun to reassemble a new sense of homeland from these fragments Interdisciplinary Literary Studies, 2009 Western American Literature, 2006

Western Subjects Kathleen Boardman, Gioia Woods, 2004 What if anything is western about western American autobiography The essays in this anthology explore the idea of place as it is revealed in a variety of texts rooted in the West from a bestselling memoir that connects environmental disruption with the impact of disease on a family to a Paiute woman's personal history presented in defense of her public activities to a famous folksinger's novel of his life Whether studying writers such as Terry Tempest Williams William Kittredge and Woody Guthrie or lesser known men and women whose autobiographies are grounded in western America this thorough volume of criticism and scholarship seeks to understand the ways the West takes shape in lifewriting as landscape language or state of mind Voice in the Wilderness Terry Tempest Williams, 2006-08-15 The author talks about wilderness and wildlife place and eroticism art and literature democracy and politics family and heritage Mormonism and religion writing and creativity and other subjects in a set of interviews gathered and introduced by Michael Austin to represent the span of her career as a naturalist author and activist Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature Modern Humanities Research Association, 2005 Includes both books and articles

Refiguring Prose Style T.R. Johnson, Tom Pace, 2005-10-30 For about two decades say Johnson and Pace the discussion of how to address prose style in teaching college writing has been stuck with style standing in as a proxy for other stakes in the theory wars The traditional argument is evidently still quite persuasive to some that teaching style is mostly a matter of teaching generic conventions through repetition and practice Such a position usually presumes the traditional view of composition as essentially a service course one without content of its own On the other side the shortcomings of this argument have been much discussed that it neglects invention revision context meaning even truth that it is not congruent with research that it ignores 100 years of scholarship establishing composition's intellectual territory beyond service The discussion is stuck there and all sides have been giving it a rest in recent scholarship Yet style remains of vital practical interest to the field because everyone has to teach it one way or another A consequence of the impasse is that a theory of style itself has not been well articulated Johnson and Pace suggest that moving the field toward a better consensus will require establishing style as a clearer subject of inquiry Accordingly this collection takes up a comprehensive study of the subject Part I explores the recent history of composition studies the ways it has figured and all but effaced the whole question of prose style Part II takes to heart Elbow s suggestion that composition and literature particularly as conceptualized in the context of creative writing courses have something to learn from each other Part III sketches practical classroom procedures for heightening students abilities to engage style and part IV explores new theoretical frameworks for defining this vital and much neglected territory The hope of the essays here focusing as they do on historical aesthetic practical and theoretical issues is to awaken composition studies to the possibilities of style and in turn to rejuvenate a great many classrooms
