U.S. Department of the Army, 2021-03-10 Green Beret Bushcrafting Guide Brian M. Morris, 2022-07-26 The Eight Pillars of Survival Many survival and emergency preparedness experts today use the pyramid approach to survival prioritization putting food water shelter and security in the largest block at the base of the pyramid and then community sustainability and higher needs in smaller brackets at the top of the pyramid My survival model takes a different and linear approach to survival using an eight pillar system The eight pillars that I use as the basis of my survival methodology are food water shelter security communication health survival navigation and fire craft In my system no one pillar takes priority to another initially

It is up to the survivor to assess their situation and then choose the pillar that is needed most to survive in the situation at hand Much like a rifle pop up target range where a shooter is expected to hit the closer more dangerous 50 meter target first before engaging the 300 meter target the survivor needs to prioritize the pillars and choose the pillar that is most urgent and necessary to save his life under the circumstances The foundation for my methodology is KISS which stands for keep it simple stupid an acronym widely used by the military to remind soldiers that the best solutions are often the simplest I developed this 8 Pilar approach over decades of serving as a Green Beret in the US Army Special Forces
