The Living Dead Inside The Palermo Crypt:

The Living Dead Marco Lanza,2001 A visual tour of the 400 year old tombs of Palermo featuring haunting images of the dead that trace Sicilian history from the renaissance to the early 20th century     The Provocation of the Senses in Contemporary Theatre Stephen Di Benedetto,2011-01-13 Di Benedetto considers theatrical practice through the lens of contemporary neuroscientific discoveries in this provoking study which lays the foundation for considering the physiological basis of the power of theatre practice to affect human behavior He presents a basic summary of the ways that the senses function in relation to cognitive science and physiology offering an overview of dominant trends of discussion on the realm of the senses in performance Also presented are examples of how those ideas are illustrated in recent theatrical presentations and how the different senses form the structure of a theatrical event Di Benedetto concludes by suggesting the possible implications these neuroscientific ideas have upon our understanding of theatrical composition audience response and the generation of meaning     The Materiality and Spatiality of Death, Burial and Commemoration Christoph Klaus

Streb,Thomas Kolinberger,2021-09-28 Death dying and burial produce artefacts and occur in spatial contexts The interplay between such materiality and the bereaved who commemorate the dead yields interpretations and creates meanings that can change over time Materiality is more than simple matter void of meaning or relevance The apparent inanimate has meaning It is charged with significance has symbolic and interpretative value perhaps a form of selfhood which originates from the interaction with the animate In our case gravestones bodily remains and the spatial order of the cemetery are explored for their material agency and relational constellations with human perceptions and actions Consciously and unconsciously by interacting with such materiality one is creating meaning while materiality retroactively provides a form of agency Spatiality provides more than a mere context it permits and shapes such interaction Thus artefacts mementos and memorials are exteriorised materialised and spatialized forms of human activity they can be understood as cultural forms the function of which is to sustain social life However they are also the medium through which values ideas and criteria of social distinction are reproduced legitimised or transformed This book will explore this interplay by going beyond the consideration of simple grave artefacts on the one hand and graveyards as a space on the other hand to examine the specific interrelationships between materiality spatiality the living and the dead The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Mortality     Wreckage Sascha Feinstein,2017-02-24 In this memoir Sascha Feinstein recounts life with his father Sam Feinstein who was both a brilliant artist and a hoarder of monumental proportions He collected only uncollectible objects artifacts that required him to give them importance and at the time of his death in 2003 his hoarding had fundamentally destroyed all three of his large homes Despite this Sam Feinstein was a remarkable painter and art teacher This strange double helix of creativity and destruction guides these collage like reflections Like his students canvases paintings inspired by enormous still lifes constructed from the world s refuse this book incorporates myriad sources in order to create a more layered experience for the reader The final result is the depiction of a painter with the highest artistic ideals who nevertheless left behind an incalculable amount of physical and emotional wreckage The Publishers Weekly ,2001
