The Long March The Untold Story:

The Long March Harrison Evans Salisbury, 1987 An engrossing account New York Times Book Review of the Red Army's flight from the superior forces of Chiang Kai shek in China during 1934 1935 Authortour The Long March Harrison Evans Salisbury, 1985 The Long March - the Untold Story Harrison E. Salisbury, 1981 The Long March Ed Jocelyn, Andrew McEwen, 2006 The authors set off to retrace the Red Army's journey and record the experiences of the last remaining witnesses and participants of the Long March They found history alive all along the route including Tibetans whose accounts the Chinese censors wanted to ban and sensationally the woman who may be Mao's long lost daughter This book is based on eye witness evidence and contemporary records It contrasts starkly not only with the official version but also with recent claims that the March was a fraud The Long March really did happen but not as Mao told it Bringing together the historic event with images of changing society and their won march a remarkable feat of endurance itself the authors offer an exclusive picture of China past and present BACK COVER Words and Their Stories Ban Wang, 2010-10-05 As China joins the capitalist world economy the problems of social disintegration that gave rise to the earlier revolutionary social movements are becoming pressing Instead of viewing the Chinese Revolution as an academic study these essays suggest that the motifs of the Revolution are still alive and relevant The slogan Farewell to Revolution that obscures the revolutionary language is premature In spite of dislocations and ruptures in the revolutionary language to rethink this discourse is to revisit a history in terms of sedimented layers of linguistic meanings and political aspirations Earlier meanings of revolutionary words may persist or coexist with non revolutionary rivals Recovery of the vital uses of key revolutionary words proffers critical alternatives in which contemporary capitalist myths can be contested The Minjian Avant-Garde Chang Tan, 2024-02-15 The Minjian Avant Garde studies how experimental artists in China mixed with brought changes to and let themselves be transformed by minjian the volatile and diverse public of the post Mao era Departing from the usual emphasis on art institutions global markets or artists communities Chang Tan proposes a new analytical framework in the theories of socially engaged art that stresses the critical agency of participants the affective functions of objects and the versatility of the artists in diverse sociopolitical spheres Drawing from hitherto untapped archival materials and interviews with the artists Tan challenges the views of Chinese artists as either dissidents or conformists to the regime and sees them as navigators and negotiators among diverse political discourses and interests She questions the fetishization of marginalized communities among practitioners of progressive art and politics arguing that the members of minjian are often more complex defiant and savvy than the elites would assume The Minjian Avant Garde critically assesses the rise of populism in both art and politics and show that minjian could constitute either a democratizing or a coercive force This book was published with generous support from the George Dewey and Mary J Krumrine Endowment The Long March Shuyun Sun, 2006 Every nation has its founding myth and for modern China it is the Long March In 1934 the fledgling Communist

Party and its 200 000 strong armies were forced out of their bases by Chiang Kaishek and his National troops Walking more than 10 000 miles over mountains grassland and swamps they suffered appalling casualties and ended up in the remote barren North Just one fifth survived they went on to launch the new China in the heat of revolution A legend was born Justified by a remarkable feat the Long March was also a triumph of propaganda for Mao and for the revolution Seventy years later Sun Shuyun set out to retrace the Marchers steps The rugged landscape has changed little Her greatest difficulty was in wrestling with the scenes lodged in her mind since childhood part of the upbringing of every Chinese On each stage of her journey she found hidden stories the ruthless purges the terrible toll of hunger and disease the fate of women on the March the huge number of desertions the futile deaths The real story of the March the most vivid pictures come from the veterans whom Sun Shuyun has found She follows their trail through all those harsh miles discovers their faith and disillusion their pain and their hopes and also recounts how many suffered even after the March s end in 1936 The Long March was an epic journey of endurance even more severe than history books say and courage against impossible odds It is a brave exciting and tragic story Sun Shuyun tells it for the first time as it really happened

Space, Politics, and Cultural Representation in Modern China Enhua Zhang, 2016-12-08 Regarding revolution as a spatial practice this book explores modes of spatial construction in modern China through a panoramic overview of major Chinese revolutionary events and nuanced analysis of cultural representations Examining the relationship between revolution space and culture in modern China the author takes five spatially significant revolutionary events as case studies the territorial dispute between Russia and the Qing dynasty in 1892 the Land Reform in the 1920s the Long March 1934-36 the mainland Taiwan split in 1949 and the Cultural Revolution 1966-76 and analyses how revolution constructs conceives and transforms space Using materials associated with these events including primarily literature as well as maps political treatises historiography plays film and art the book argues that in addition to redirecting the flow of Chinese history revolutionary movements operate in and on space in three main ways maintaining territorial sovereignty redefining social relations and governing an imaginary realm Arguing for reconsideration of revolution as a reorganization of space as much as time this book will appeal to students and scholars of Chinese culture society history and literature

China's Long March Jean Fritz, 1988 Describes the events of the 6 000 mile march undertaken by Mao Zedong and his Communist followers as they retreated before the forces of Chiang Kai shek

The Long March Martyn Frampton, 2009 The Long March examines the recent history and evolving political strategy of Sinn Fin from the effective birth of the party in 1981 down to the recent Irish General Election
