The Long Sleep Kate Hill, 2024-12-12 This book isn't just a guide; it's a lifeline. Shirley Ballas, head judge of Strictly Come Dancing, and ambassador for CALM and Suicide Co Worldwide, suicide is one of the leading causes of death among young people and numbers continue to increase. Many young people have experienced suicidal thoughts, self-harmed, or attempted suicide. What makes someone particularly vulnerable? Why do proportionally more young men than women resort to suicide? What can be done to support people and prevent young deaths? The Long Sleep explores the origins, symptoms, and meanings of young people's suicidal crises and argues the need for sensitive responses and improved understanding if current rates are to be curbed. Combining moving accounts from relatives and young people who have attempted suicide with the evidence of extensive research into the subject, Kate Hill offers important and timely insights into an area fraught with fear and denial. This classic self-help book has been fully revised and considers current perspectives around mental and physical healthcare development. Social, environmental, and personal factors that may be triggers. How to listen to and support young people at risk. Where and when to seek professional help and support. The Long Sleep has incredible breadth and depth, which offers real insights into the minds of those who are suicidal, together with practical guidance on supporting young people and challenging the myths around suicide.

Professor Rory O'Connor, Suicidal Behaviour Research Laboratory, University of Glasgow, author of When It Is Darkest

Young People and Social Change Andy Furlong, Fred Cartmel, 1997 How have young people's lives changed over the past two decades? Are traditional social divisions such as class and gender still useful in helping predict life chances and experiences? How do young people cope with increased feelings of vulnerability and stress? Social changes occurring in recent years have had an enormous impact on the lives of young people. The apparent weakening of traditional social structures has led social theorists like Ulrich Beck and Anthony Giddens to argue that we have entered a new era of late modernity in which individuals struggle to reflexively construct biographies in a context where new risks impinge on all aspects of life. This book examines modern theoretical interpretations of social change in relation to young people and provides an overview of their experiences in a number of key contexts such as education, employment, the family, leisure, health, crime, and politics. The authors consider whether the traditional parameters which were previously understood as structuring the life chances and experiences of young people are still relevant and examine the extent to which individualisation and risk convey an accurate picture of the changing lives of the young. They argue that life in late modernity revolves around an epistemological fallacy: although social structures such as class continue to shape life chances, these structures tend to become increasingly obscure as collectivist traditions weaken and individualist values intensify. As a consequence of these changes, people come to regard the social world as unpredictable and filled with risks that can only be negotiated on an individual level, even though chains of human interdependence remain intact. This comprehensive and up-to-date overview is designed to provide an essential text for undergraduate courses on the sociology of youth education, work, stratification, and supplementary reading for other courses such as on leisure crime and health as well as vocational courses in youth and community work Suicide in Palestine Nadia Taysir Dabbagh,2005 This book is the first anthropological study of suicide in the Arab world today It discusses the effects of life under Israeli occupation on the mental health of young Palestinians using selected case studies of men and women who have attempted suicide in the West Bank above all in the city of Ramallah but also in Jenin The book is not about martyrs or those who gain so much media attention by dying for a holy cause rather it concerns those who wish to die for entirely private reasons Contrary to what might be expected fatal suicide levels in Palestinian society remain low compared with Western norms despite the many stress factors that have been shown to contribute to suicidal behavior in the West including unemployment and social deprivation In particular suicide is found to be contrary to the concept of Palestinian identity of a people under siege for whom resistance is paramount rather than giving in to depression or despair Above all Nadia Dabbagh s findings confirm the importance of what she calls the ripple effects of war Her research was carried out after the first intifada during a so called peace building period but it clearly reveals the trauma suffered by Palestinians living in the Occupied Territories The stories she tells mirror the disillusionment of those who had hoped that their lives would improve once fighting subsided and the Palestinian National Authority had been established The book aims to foster an understanding of suicide in the Islamic world more generally looking at current and historical attitudes to death and self killing in Islamic and Arab thought The distinction between suicide and martyrdom is explored in detail as are current perceptions of these phenomena in the Muslim world Book jacket Prime Time John Benson,1997 This text aims to remedy the problem of the neglect of the middle aged in social history and sociology studies a group who are consistently the most productive and powerful of all age groups It examines how middle age has changed in numbers material conditions health family and political and social attitudes since the 1700s and considers what these changes have meant for the middle aged themselves and for society at large Encyclopedia of Applied Ethics ,1998 Plain Talk ,1928 Teen Suicide Judith C. Galas,1994 Discusses the growing problem of teenage suicide in America and offers probable causes and means of prevention Suicides in Seattle, 1914 to 1925 Calvin Fisher Schmid,1928 The South African Medical Record ,1926
