State Normal Magazine, Vol. 3, 2015-07-13 Excerpt from State Normal Magazine Vol 3 Greensboro N C April 1899 At times froth and scum have covered it over so completely as to conceal the deep strong current flowing far beneath But the real movement going forward with wonderful sweep and power has already declared its significance and proved its beneficence The real woman s movement has been not for woman suffrage nor for the legal emancipation of woman from male subjection but for woman s better education Its significance is that it aims to prepare woman by adequate training to accomplish for herself and for society what cannot be secured through legislation nor by the aid of man It recognizes a truth which should scarcely need to be stated to wit that women as well as men must make their own careers and that they need for this purpose as well as men the broadest and most thorough training possible The beneficence of the woman s movement is already manifest by its arousing the interest and active support of men and women everywhere conspicuous for philanthropy and broad mindedness Its advocates are no longer masculine feminines and feminine masculines but manly men and womanly women The movement is now directed by the very best type of American and English mothers and wives conspicuous for gentleness refinement culture and domestic virtues as well as for intelligent and sympathetic grasp of the great problems of life Until the present century scant provision existed for the education of women even among the most civilized and refined nations but a marked and rapid change has taken place especially during the latter half of the century Not only have women s colleges been established with large equipment of faculty and teaching apparatus and with patronage exceeding the expectations of their founders but colleges and universities established and long conducted exclusively for men have been opened to women both in America and in Europe In England the University of London is open as freely to women as to men while the universities of Oxford and Cambridge are actually though not nominally open also to women for whose especial benefit at the latter have been established two endowed colleges and at the former three endowed halls The universities of the following countries are open to women and men on terms of equality Scotland Ireland Norway Sweden Denmark Holland Belgium Switzerland France and Italy About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works wishes to get a picture of every school house to make a sort of rogue s gallery of our school houses but it is to be hoped that in ten years these pictures will fail to identify the houses then standing With these pictures is to be collected much information relating to the schools In July there is to be a meeting of this association to discuss future work We are confident that through the organized efforts of the association much good can be done in this county About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

State Normal Magazine, Vol. 7 Annie G. Randall, 2016-08-23 Excerpt from State Normal Magazine Vol 7 February 1903 We are not unmindful of the many needs of the State of North Carolina in its many departments of activity but we have a deep and abiding confidence in the wisdom of the General Assembly to provide the necessary means and in the patriotism of the people of the State to sustain the General Assembly in any action that it may take for the upbuilding and equipment of a great college for the education of North Carolina women and the training of North Carolina teachers About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

State Normal Magazine, Vol. 14 State Normal and Industrial College, 2016-11-09 Excerpt from State Normal Magazine Vol 14 January 1910 I was delighted to hear when I came to the college that most of your students have your homes in the country I was delighted to find that there is probably no state in the Union where there is a larger percentage of the people who live in the country and not in the cities than in North Carolina That is a very good thing I am always depressed when I go into those immense cities which are growing up in Europe and America like New York and Philadelphia where a large part of the population has to live many miles from the country But think how different life is to people living in the midst of brick and mortar and busy dusty streets and the constant sounds of traffic passing to and fro from those of us brought up in the country where we can smell the new mown hay and see the green pastures and the waving of the trees and the constant change of nature from winter to spring and from spring to summer and autumn These were the things which were the earliest possessions of our race these are the things which are the first and the perpetual themes of poetry these are the things among which it is well to grow up and which we remember with pleasure even in the latter part of our lives It is not the case in cities I hope that the large majority of you will go back to pastoral life in the country It is a very good thing for the health of the people in every way moral and physical health to live in the country About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
