Bradburry returns to new post

J. R. (Bud) Bradburry will return to work Monday for the City of The Colony as director of public safety, a newly created position.

Bradburry's appointment was made official Monday by City Manager Tom Hart after it was recommended by the City Council that the job of fire chief and director of community development be combined.

The responsibility will include being administrator of Fire and Audubon departments operations, building inspection, code enforcement, and municipal insurance department.

"Mr. Bradburry's past experience as building official and fire chief during his more 14 years in Lewisville and his one year as director of community development for the City of The Colony makes him excellently suited for this position," Hart said.

Bradburry resigned Aug. 22 effective Aug. 21 as director of community development and building inspection. He had been hired by the City of Euless as chief building inspector.

He had cited better fringe benefits as a reason for leaving his Colony job.

The combined duties of fire chief and director of community development is in the 1979-80 budget of $71,600.

The job of fire chief had been open since Chuck Krimberling unexpectedly resigned Sept. 4.

City's $726,162 budget discussed

A public hearing on the proposed 1979-80 budget highlighted the Monday night meeting of the City Council. Council members discussed details of tentative consideration of the budget for the coming year. City Manager Tom Hart discussed the $726,162 proposal in detail.

Hart and council members answered questions from the floor, then voted unanimously to approve the first reading of the ordinance adopting the budget.

Dispositions of about $100,000 received from International Business Machines as settlement for the closing of Colony Road generated use of a tax rate of 59 cents per $100 valuation at the planning time. Council members emphasized that the tax

CofC to be topic at meet

An effort is being pressed to organize a Colony Chapter of Consumers. It is being done by the Colony Business Association.

There will be an association meeting at 8 a.m. Sept. 26 at the Lake Country Ranch-Country 21 office at Highway 521 and 425.

Discussed will be an application for membership to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, a Colony charter and memberships, Seven Hoses, temporary association chairman, said.

Persons interested in organizing a Colony CofC should call Hines at 370-2843.

Bike riders ignore signs

Problems often bring problems, and Colony Square Shopping Center has encountered its share, with bicyclists proving to be a major concern. An ordinance banning nonusers outside bicycle positions, including riding on sidewalks in business districts, has been requested by merchants, and will be considered by the City Council at its next session.

Firemen return at Little Elm

Members of the Little Elm Volunteer Fire Department returned to duty Friday for at least three months.

Five days earlier department officers had resigned and the remaining members were reluctant to make emergency runs because liability insurance coverage had expired.

There were no fire calls during the five days, returning Fire Chief Joe Page said. But the department's fund shortage remains because of few donations.

"We just have it pinned together," Page said, adding that the department only has $200 in the bank after paying for liability insurance for one quarter. The annual premium is $1,515.

Insurance coverage had expired Aug. 31. The City of Little Elm had paid for it but had no funds budgeted for 1978-80.

Contributions had been trickling in since the public had learned of the problem, Page said. Donations collections have been placed at the Karpis-Karson market, Clay's Old-Style and the Little Elm Grocery.

"We'll keep the doors open as long as possible. It all depends on our creditors," Page said. Payments are being made on the previous of two vehicles.

The Fire Department began its annual fund drive in June, totaling $10,000 in donations. Denton County funding totals about $4,000 a year.

In June estimated expenses for 1978-80 were put at $14,000. Expenses would include vehicle payments of about $9,000, operating expenses of about $2,500 and a $2,500 fire warning system improvement. Donations of at least $25 a family were asked.

Page said Sunday that expenses in that budget were underestimated about 50 per cent and the de-
